Overview & Current Events

J&J Snack Foods (JJSF) manufactures, markets, and distributes snack foods to retail supermarkets and food service locations throughout North America. The business's three segments are Retail Supermarkets, which includes sales to supermarkets, Food Service, which includes sales to non-supermarket locations, and Frozen Beverages, which includes sales of their frozen treats like Icee, Slush Puppie, and Parrot Ice. Food Service has historically accounted for the bulk of sales; in 2023, Food Service accounted for 60.9% of sales, Retail Supermarkets accounted for 14.6% of sales, and Frozen Beverages accounted for 24.5% of sales. The conglomerate's brands include Superpretzel, Pretzel, Fillers, Pretzels, Gourmet Twists, Soft Pretzel Bites, Auntie Anne's, Luigi's, Whole Fruit, Philly Swirl, Minute Maid (trademark of Coca Cola), Daddy Ray's, and Hill & Valley. In 2022, J&J Snack Foods completed a $222 million acquisition of Dippin' Dots, a powerful ice cream brand. Aside from strong brands, the business has strong distribution channels, which helps it get its products into supermarkets and various food service locations, including snack bars, malls, shopping centers, sports arenas, theme parks, convenience stores, movie theatres, schools, and more. The business saw a decrease in earnings-per-share in 2020 and 2021 due to decreased sales from the COVID-19 pandemic, but the business's performance has rebounded.

On May 3rd, 2024, J&J Snack Foods reported second quarter results for the period ending March 30th, 2024. The company achieved earnings per diluted share of $0.69, an impressive increase of 91.7% compared to the $0.36 for the same quarter last year. The company recorded a significant rise in net sales, up 6.5% to $359.7 million, and demonstrated growth across multiple business segments, with Retail segment sales up by 14.1% and Frozen Beverage segment sales increasing by 5.0% compared to the year-ago quarter. Despite slight softness in certain Food Service products, the company noted exceptional performance in high-margin items such as Churros, contributing to an improved gross profit percentage of 30.1% from 26.8% in second quarter of 2023, reflecting better product mix and ongoing productivity enhancements. Total operating expenses were $90.3 million, representing 25.1% of sales, a slight increase primarily due to $2.3 million in one-time transition expenses related to the opening of the new distribution center in Arizona, strategic marketing, and selling initiatives to support core brands and new product launches. The company remains optimistic about continuing its growth trajectory through the second half of fiscal 2024, with ongoing investments to expand core brands and operational capabilities.

Over the past decade, J&J Snack Foods has seen earnings-per-share increase at an average annualized rate of 0.7%, but this is a little skewed since JJSF saw depressed earnings-per-share from 2020 to 2022. From 2013 to 2019, the business saw annual earnings-per-share growth of 6.6%. We expect the business to continue to see this kind of growth over the intermediate term, which is why we forecast earnings-per-share to grow at 7% annually. We believe that this growth will come from strong sales growth and streamlining operations in fiscal year 2024. J&J Snack Foods is transforming its logistics network by establishing three regional distribution centers, which will streamline operations, improve customer service, and reduce distribution costs. Over the past 5 years, dividend payments have grown at 8.0% annually. J&J Snack Foods has a 20-year consecutive track record of increasing its dividend payments. In August 2023, the quarterly dividend increased by 5% from $0.70 to $0.735 per share.

Valuation Analysis

Year	2014	2015	2016	2017	2018	2019	2020	2021	2022	2023	Now	2029
Avg. P/E	23.8	28.8	27.9	30.7	32.0	32.3	161.8	54.3	41.2	26.9	30.8	35.0
Avg. Yld.	1.9%	1.3%	1.4%	1.3%	1.3%	1.2%	1.5%	1.6%	1.8%	1.7%	1.8%	1.4%

Over the past decade, J&J Snack Foods has averaged a P/E ratio of 46.0. Based on the steady history of valuation multiples and excluding the spike in 2020, we estimate that a P/E ratio of 35 is fair for the business. Today, the stock offers a 1.8% dividend yield, which could be low for investors who prioritize dividend income, but investors might consider the company if they are interested in the company's growth potential.

Safety, Quality, Competitive Advantage, & Recession Resiliency

Year	2014	2015	2016	2017	2018	2019	2020	2021	2022	2023	2024	2029
Payout	34%	39%	39%	40%	40%	40%	240%	83%	106%	69%	55%	48%

J&J Snack Foods has averaged a payout ratio of 72.8% over the past decade. Additionally, the business has a strong balance sheet, with more current assets on the balance sheet than total liabilities, even after the $222 million Dippin' Dot acquisition. As a business in the Consumer Staple sector, this business has a certain degree of recession resiliency, because people are always going to seek out food products. The company has a competitive advantage due to the strong brand names that it owns.

Final Thoughts & Recommendation

J&J Snack Foods is a business with well-known snack food brands like Auntie Anne's, Luigi's, etc. The company has a strong distribution system to successfully get these products into retail supermarkets and food service locations. At today's price, we rate the stock as a buy because total return prospects come in at 11.2% annually over the next five years. This projection is driven by a 1.8% dividend yield, an estimated 7% annual growth in earnings-per-share, and a valuation tailwind.
