Overview & Current Events

Sensient Technologies is a basic materials company focused on product additives for foods, beverages, and cosmetics. The company's largest line of business is in making flavors and extracts. Key products on the flavor side include dehydrated onion and garlic products. Coloring additives make up most of the rest of the firm's revenues.

In 2021 and 2022, Sensient enjoyed a strong operating environment both in terms of unit demand and pricing. In fact, in some categories, such as onion products, it had struggled to keep up with the high levels of consumer demand. Like many companies which rely on consumer spending, however, Sensient's results have soured as pandemic-related buying has tapered off while inflation and supply chain issues have been a challenge to profitability.

On April 26th, 2024, Sensient delivered its first quarter results. Adjusted earnings per share of 79 cents declined one cent from last year's figure. However, this easily topped analysts' expectations and indicates that the company's recent cyclical downtrend may be ending. Revenues of $385 million grew 4% year-over-year and were a pleasant surprise as analysts had been expecting flat year-over-year results.

Sensient has recently incurred some one-time restructuring charges which detract from reported results. We exclude these from our earnings modeling, however, and given this significantly stronger quarterly result, we have boosted our outlook for 2024. The company reported 7% growth in Flavors & Extracts, which offset negative results from both the Colorings and Asia Pacific divisions. Sensient would need to see these other divisions pick up steam to get earnings per share back to prior highs. That said, the positive inflection in the company's Flavors & Extracts business is enough to snap Sensient out of its recent downturn and return the company to meaningful top- and bottom-line growth.

Growth on a Per-Share Basis

Year	2014	2015	2016	2017	2018	2019	2020	2021	2022	2023	2024	2029
EPS	$3.02	$3.05	$3.21	$3.42	$3.70	$2.96	$2.59	$3.13	$3.34	$2.86	$3.05	$4.28
DPS	$0.98	$1.04	$1.11	$1.23	$1.35	$1.47	$1.56	$1.58	$1.64	$1.64	$1.64	$2.09
Shares¹	50	48	45	44	43	42	42	42	42	42	42	41

Sensient has shown virtually no growth over the past decade. Earnings-per-share were around $3 per share ten years ago, and remain around that level today. The operating business has actually shrunk, but the firm's share buyback program managed to keep earnings per share stable.

Things appeared to be changing for the better. Sensient had enjoyed a robust pricing environment in 2021 and 2022, posting some of its best growth metrics in quite a while. But 2023 has challenged the idea that Sensient has turned a corner operationally. That said, Sensient has consolidated its business in recent years. It sold off its ink business and its yogurt fruit products operations in 2020, while making new acquisitions that add directly onto the company's core product lines. For now, we will give management the benefit of the doubt and forecast 7% annual earnings growth based on its ongoing cost-savings and turnaround effort.

Updated May 26th, 2024, by Ian Bezek

Sensient had enjoyed decent dividend growth in recent years, with a 5.9% annualized growth rate over the past decade. However, the payout ratio has increased given the lack of earnings growth, and the company has failed to increase its dividend for more than a year now.

Valuation Analysis

Year	2014	2015	2016	2017	2018	2019	2020	2021	2022	2023	Now	2029
Avg. P/E	18.1	21.3	21.5	22.8	18.7	22.5	22.0	27.7	22.0	23.4	24.6	21.0
Avg. Yld.	1.8%	1.6%	1.6%	1.6%	2.0%	2.2%	2.7%	1.8%	2.2%	2.4%	2.2%	2.3%

Sensient started off the early 2010s with a P/E ratio around 15 and spent several years below 20. The P/E ratio climbed over time, however, hitting a peak of 27.7 in 2021. The company's earnings haven't historically grown quickly enough to support that sort of premium valuation and shares have now returned to around a more reasonable valuation ratio. We anticipate its P/E ratio remaining in the low 20s over the long term.

On a dividend yield basis, Sensient stock has offered between 1.6% and 2.8% over the past decade. The current 2.2% dividend yield is right in the middle of its historical range.

Safety, Quality, Competitive Advantage, & Recession Resiliency

Year	2014	2015	2016	2017	2018	2019	2020	2021	2022	2023	2024	2029
Payout	32%	34%	35%	36%	36%	50%	60%	50%	49%	57%	54%	49%

Sensient has a strong balance sheet, as it has just $644 million of long-term debt. That, plus the fact that it enjoys a history of stable earnings, should ensure that Sensient is well positioned to handle its financial obligations.

Sensient operates in a commoditized industry with limited competitive moats. This is reflected in the company's sluggish growth metrics over the past decade. Past dividend growth exceeded earnings increases, leading to a large and sustained rise in the firm's payout ratio. While the company is safe and generally recession-proof, the distinct lack of earnings growth makes one wonder about the underlying quality of the firm's business operations.

Final Thoughts & Recommendation

After a couple of strong years, Sensient's results tailed off in 2023. Things appear to be improving now, but with two divisions still reporting negative year-over-year results, progress will be gradual. We believe things will eventually get better and forecast 7% annualized earnings growth. However, Sensient's share price has rallied since our last report, and that has lowered the forward outlook return to 5.8% annually. SXT's stock merits a hold rating today.
