Overview & Current Events

Community Financial System was formed in 1983 and since that time, it has expanded to become a diversified financial services company with more than 200 locations in the northeastern U.S. Its principal business is traditional community banking, but it also owns a large benefits administration business, in addition to offering a variety of insurance products. Its market capitalization is $3.3 billion, and it produces about $735 million in annual revenue.

Community Financial posted second quarter earnings on July 23rd, 2024, and results were better than expected on both the top and bottom lines. Adjusted earnings-per-share came to 95 cents, which was 14 cents ahead of expectations. Net income was $48 million on a dollar basis.

Revenue was up about 5% year-over-year to $183.8 million, beating estimates by about $3.6 million. Net interest income was $109.4 million, basically flat to the year-ago period. It was, however, $2.4 million better than this year's first quarter.

Loans ended the quarter at $10.02 billion, up $140 million from the end of the first quarter of 2024. It was up $853 million from last year's Q2. Total ending deposits were $13.14 billion, down $214 million from the end of the first quarter, but $266 million higher year-over-year.

Annualized net charge-offs were just 0.05%, in another excellent showing of credit quality for Community Financial. We have boosted our estimate of earnings-per-share to $3.40 after Q2 results.

Earnings-per-share have been volatile in the past decade but in recent years, growth has been steadier. We see that continuing as the bank is focused on profitable growth, but we forecast 3% earnings-per-share growth annually. We are still cautious given interest rate headwinds present for the entire banking industry, which Community Financial System is suffering from as well. With few levers to pull to boost earnings growth, we think the bank will have a difficult time in the coming years growing from 2022 earnings.

Community Financial System continues to see earnings tailwinds from very low deposit funding costs and organic revenue growth, as well as a constant flow of acquisitions. Growth-by-acquisition is generally tough in the financial services industry, but Community Financial System has proven adept at executing this strategy over time, and this should be the primary growth driver going forward. Community Financial System is performing well, but its lending margins are already strong, so we think upside from there is somewhat limited. However, credit quality remains favorable. Even so, headwinds are still present and out of the bank's control to a large extent.

Dividend growth has been moderate, but management appears to be willing to pay out half of earnings or more on the dividend. We see modest dividend growth ahead given the pace of earnings growth.

Valuation Analysis

Year	2014	2015	2016	2017	2018	2019	2020	2021	2022	2023	Now	2029
Avg. P/E	16.5	17.0	18.9	17.8	18.3	19.5	18.5	21.1	17.6	15.6	18.5	14.0
Avg. Yld.	3.2%	3.3%	2.9%	2.5%	2.4%	2.5%	2.8%	2.3%	2.8%	3.4%	2.9%	3.5%

Community Financial System’s price-to-earnings multiple has moved around significantly in the past decade as its fortunes have improved and deteriorated. We maintain our target valuation of 14 times earnings given the sector is seeing modest valuations applied by investors. We are forecasting a sizable annual headwind to total returns in the coming years from the valuation. We see the dividend yield at 3.5% in five years, higher than today’s level given the relatively high stock valuation.

Safety, Quality, Competitive Advantage, & Recession Resiliency

Year	2014	2015	2016	2017	2018	2019	2020	2021	2022	2023	2024	2029
Payout	51%	54%	53%	53%	45%	48%	51%	49%	49%	53%	54%	49%

We see the payout ratio remaining around half of earnings for the foreseeable future. The bank’s impressive dividend streak appears to be safe at this point, and we see many more years of increases coming, even if a recession strikes. Growth rates should be low, however, due to low earnings growth and a payout ratio that is higher than most of its peers.

Community Financial System’s competitive advantage is in its dominant market position in many of its service areas. It competes in areas that have sparse levels of competition and thus the company is able to hold strong market share in those locations, with many at or above a third of total market deposits. That does not make it immune to recessions, but its strong performance means it can be an acquirer during downturns, softening the blow of economic weakness.

Final Thoughts & Recommendation

Overall, Community Financial’s total returns face an uphill battle given lower sector valuations and modest growth outlook. We forecast total annual returns of 0.5%, and we’re moving the stock from hold to sell. The 2.9% yield is decent, but total projected returns are quite low after Q2 earnings.
