Overview & Current Events

Fulton Financial Corporation (FULT) is a U.S.-based diversified financial services company with over $27 billion in assets and more than 200 branches across Pennsylvania, Maryland, Delaware, New Jersey, and Virginia. It offers a range of consumer and commercial banking products and services, such as checking and savings deposit products and loan products. Its services cover five distinct divisions: consumer banking, commercial banking, mortgage banking, wealth management, and others. In November 2022, Prudential Bank merged into Fulton Bank, N.A. and announced the subsequent conversion of Prudential Bank's systems onto Fulton Bank's banking platforms. Fulton Financial Corporation founded in 1882, is a $3.3 billion company and has about 3,300 employees.

On July 16th, 2024, Fulton Financial Corporation released its second quarter 2024 results for the period ending June 30th, 2024. For the second quarter, the company reported a net income available to common shareholders of $92.4 million, or $0.52 per diluted share. This was an increase of $33 million, or 44.4%, in comparison to the first quarter of 2024. The second quarter's net interest income was $241.7 million, an increase of $34.8 million in comparison to the previous quarter. Net interest margin was 3.43%, up 11 basis points from the first quarter of 2024. The increase was primarily due to the acquisition of Republic Bank, which contributed approximately $30.7 million to the increase in net interest income. Fulton Financial Corporation recorded a provision for credit losses of $32.1 million, significantly higher than the $10.9 million recorded in the first quarter of 2024. This increase was primarily related to the acquisition, which included a provision for credit losses of $23.4 million for non-purchased credit deteriorated (non-PCD) loans. Excluding the acquisition, the provision for credit losses declined by $2.2 million due to a reduction in the reserve for unfunded commitments.

Non-interest income before investment securities gains was $113.3 million, up from $57.1 million in the first quarter of 2024. The increase was mainly due to a $47.4 million gain on acquisition (net of tax), as well as contributions from Republic Bank's operations. Non-interest expense increased to $199.5 million, up from $177.6 million in the first quarter of 2024. The increase was largely due to $13.8 million of acquisition-related expenses and $21.1 million from Republic Bank's operations. Management's guidance for 2024 has been updated, with expectations for net interest income ranging between $925 million to $950 million (previously in between $790 million to $820 million), provision for credit losses between $40 million to $60 million, and non-interest income ranging from $240 million to $260 million.

During the past decade shares of Fulton Financial Corporation have traded with an average price-to-earnings ratio of about 12.8 times earnings and today, it stands at 11.0. We are using 10 times earnings as a fair value baseline, implying the potential for a small valuation headwind. The company's dividend yield is currently 3.5% which is just above the average yield over the past decade of 3.4%.

Safety, Quality, Competitive Advantage, & Recession Resiliency

Payout	40%	45%	44%	48%	41%	39%	48%	35%	36%	39%	39%	37%

During the past five years, the company's dividend payout ratio has averaged around 41%. The bank's dividend is comfortably covered by earnings. Given the expected earnings growth, there is room for the dividend to continue to grow at the same pace and keep the payout ratio around the same levels which is safe.

Fulton Financial Corporation is a well-established financial services company that has a strong presence in the Mid-Atlantic region of the United States. The bank's income and revenue model is primarily based on the interest income from loans and investment securities, as well as fees and commissions from various financial services. The company's diversified business model, coupled with its focus on providing exceptional customer service, has helped it achieve consistent growth and financial performance over the years. With a strong balance sheet, a solid track record of profitability, and a commitment to innovation, Fulton Financial Corporation is well-positioned to continue delivering value to its shareholders and customers in the years to come.

Final Thoughts & Recommendation

Fulton Financial Corporation is a U.S.-based diversified financial services company with an above-average dividend yield, combined with a sound dividend payout ratio. The bank's diversified business model and focus on efficiency, innovation, and customer service, mixed with its strong regional presence, should support its future earnings growth. We estimate total return potential of 8.3% per year for the next five years based on an 7% earnings-per-share growth, a 3.5% yield, and a valuation headwind. Shares earn a hold rating.
