Overview & Current Events

The Public Service Enterprise Group (PEG) is a publicly-traded diversified energy company headquartered in Newark, New Jersey, established in 1985. However, The company has a history that dates back to 1903, when it was initially called Public Service Corporation. PEG's principal operating subsidiaries are Public Service Electric and Gas Co. (PSE&G), PSEG Power, and PSEG Long Island. The company is one of the ten largest electric companies in the U.S. PSE&G provides electric and natural gas services and services to 2.3 million electric customers and 1.9 million gas customers. PSE&G accounted for over 66% of PEG revenues in 2022. PEG has approximately 13,000 employees and a market cap of $40.1 billion. The company has been growing dividends for thirteen consecutive years, and PEG has been paying the same or higher dividends for 20 years in a row.

On July 30th, 2024, the company reported second quarter results for Fiscal Year (FY)2024. The company showed a decline in both net income and earnings per share compared to the same period in 2023. Net income for the quarter was $434 million, or $0.87 per share, down from $591 million, or $1.18 per share, in the second quarter of 2023. Non-GAAP operating earnings also decreased from $351 million ($0.70 per share) to $313 million ($0.63 per share). Despite these declines, PSEG reaffirmed its full-year 2024 guidance for non-GAAP operating earnings in the range of $3.60 to $3.70 per share, citing confidence in its financial outlook.

PSEG's CEO, Ralph LaRossa, highlighted the company's resilience during the quarter, managing challenges such as a heat wave and an earthquake with minimal disruption. The company remains on track to conclude key regulatory proceedings, including a distribution base rate case and a Clean Energy Future-Energy Efficiency II filing by the end of the year. LaRossa also emphasized PSEG's ongoing investments in energy efficiency programs, which aim to reduce customer bills and improve affordability. Additionally, PSEG Power completed a refueling outage at its Hope Creek nuclear unit and is exploring growth opportunities, including hydrogen projects and data center sales.

PSEG's segment performance reflected mixed results. Public Service Electric and Gas (PSE&G) saw a decrease in net income from $336 million to $302 million, largely due to higher operation and maintenance costs, depreciation, and interest expenses. However, the segment benefited from investments in transmission and energy efficiency programs. PSEG Power's results were bolstered by the federal nuclear production tax credit, though offset by costs related to the Hope Creek refueling. PSEG reiterated its five-year growth outlook for non-GAAP operating earnings, targeting 5% to 7% growth through 2028, supported by a robust capital investment program without the need for new equity or asset sales.

The company does not have strong growth prospects as it is a utility company and heavily regulated by the government. However, we estimate a 3% annual earnings growth rate for the next five years. This is higher than the 2.3% growth rate that the company has experienced for the past 5-year average. it is also higher than the 2.6% earnings growth over the past decade. The dividend has been growing slightly better than earnings. The dividend has had a CAGR of 5.0% for the past five years. We see this slowing down, and we estimate a dividend growth rate of 4% going forward. The net margin has increased from 14.8% in FY2018 to 16.8% in FY2019. In FY2023, PEG had a net margin of 22.8%.

Valuation Analysis

Year	2014	2015	2016	2017	2018	2019	2020	2021	2022	2023	Now	2029
Avg. P/E	15	13.3	15.1	17.6	16.7	17.9	17.0	18.3	17.7	17.6	21.8	15.0
Avg. Yld.	3.6%	4.0%	3.7%	3.3%	3.5%	3.2%	3.4%	3.1%	3.5%	3.7%	3.0%	4.6%

The company looks to be overvalued at today's price. Because of the slow growth prospects, we think that a fair PE is 15.0x earnings. This is in line with the company's 10-year average PE. Thus, we see an annual headwind due to multiple contractions. The current dividend yield of 3.0% is lower than its 5-year average of 3.4% but not as attractive as other utility companies with a higher dividend yield.

Safety, Quality, Competitive Advantage, & Recession Resiliency

Year	2014	2015	2016	2017	2018	2019	2020	2021	2022	2023	2024	2029
Payout	53.6%	53.6%	56.6%	58.7%	57.7%	57.3%	57.1%	55.9%	62.2%	65.5%	65%	69%

PEG's competitive advantage is its state-regulated business, which requires excessive capital expenses for infrastructure and poses high entry barriers to potential competitors. During the Great Recession of 2008-2009, The Company grew earnings from $2.71 in 2007 to $2.92 in 2008 and $3.12 in 2009. The dividend was well covered, and the company increased its dividend by 10.3% in 2008. This shows the dividend safety and the resilience of this company. However, in 2011, the company froze its dividend, losing its dividend increase streak, but it has grown since then. The company has a stable balance sheet with a debt-to-equity ratio of 1.3. Interest coverage ratio of 3.4x. However, the company does have more debt than assets, as the current ratio is 0.7. PEG's dividend payout ratio has been in the uptrend but is still safe for the foreseeable future.

Final Thoughts & Recommendation

The company is safe to invest in, as most utility companies are. However, at the current price, PEG is overvalued relative to our fair price estimate of $55. There are not many growth prospects available to the company currently. Thus, we see a 5-year projected annual return of -0.7%. Most of this return will come from the 3.0% dividend yield. We rate PEG as a sell at the current price.
