Overview & Current Events

CDW Corporation is a leading provider of technology solutions for business, government, education, and healthcare sectors. Established in 1984 and headquartered in Vernon Hills, Illinois, CDW offers a broad portfolio of products and services, including hardware, software, networking, cloud computing, and IT consulting. The company serves a wide range of customers, from small businesses to large enterprises, by helping them implement and manage IT infrastructure. CDW's business model revolves around partnering with major technology vendors, such as Cisco, Microsoft, and Dell, allowing it to deliver comprehensive solutions to its clients. CDW is publicly traded under the ticker symbol CDW on the NASDAQ. It has consistently reported strong financial performance, driven by growing demand for digital transformation, cloud services, and cybersecurity solutions. The company continues to expand both organically and through acquisitions to broaden its capabilities and market reach.

CDW Corporation reported its second-quarter earnings on July 31, 2024, showing a slight decline in net sales to $5.42 billion, a 3.6% drop from the same period in 2023. The company's revenue decline was attributed to ongoing economic uncertainty and cautious customer spending. Despite lower sales across its corporate, small business, and public segments, CDW's gross profit remained steady at $1.18 billion, with gross profit margins improving to 21.8% due to stronger performance in cloud and security services.

Operating income for the quarter grew by 5.1% to $433 million, driven by cost optimization measures, while non-GAAP operating income decreased slightly by 3.7%. Net income rose by 7% to $281 million, with earnings per share increasing by 7.5% to $2.07. However, non-GAAP net income per share decreased by 2.6% to $2.50, reflecting a cautious outlook due to continued economic pressures.

CDW's leadership emphasized its focus on strategic investments and effective cash flow management, which are enhancing the company's flexibility in areas like mergers and acquisitions and share repurchases. Despite the challenging environment, the company remains confident in its ability to grow and outperform the broader U.S. IT market by leveraging its extensive customer base and diverse product offerings.

CDW Corporation's growth prospects remain strong, driven by increasing demand for digital transformation, cloud computing, and cybersecurity solutions across its key sectors: business, government, education, and healthcare. The company is well-positioned to capitalize on IT market trends, leveraging its partnerships with major technology vendors and expanding through strategic acquisitions. Over the past ten years, earnings has grown a CAGR of 17.2%. However, it has slowed down over the past five year to a CAGR of 10.3%. We expect the company to continue this growth rate of 10% over the next five years. We also expect the company to grow its dividend at a 10% annual rate as well over the next five years.

Valuation Analysis

Year	2014	2015	2016	2017	2018	2019	2020	2021	2022	2023	Now	2029
Avg. P/E	14.7	14.3	15.2	18.2	15.5	23.6	19.6	25.7	18.3	23.0	22.3	18.0
Avg. Yld.	0.6%	0.7%	0.9%	1.0%	1.1%	0.9%	1.2%	0.8%	1.2%	1.1%	1.1%	1.4%

The company right now looks to be overvalued at the current price. The current PE of 22.3x earnings is near the high end over the past ten years. For example, over the past ten years the company has average a PE of 18.8x earnings. We think that a PE of 18 is fair for this company. Thus, at the current price there is a valuation head wind of 4.2%.

Safety, Quality, Competitive Advantage, & Recession Resiliency

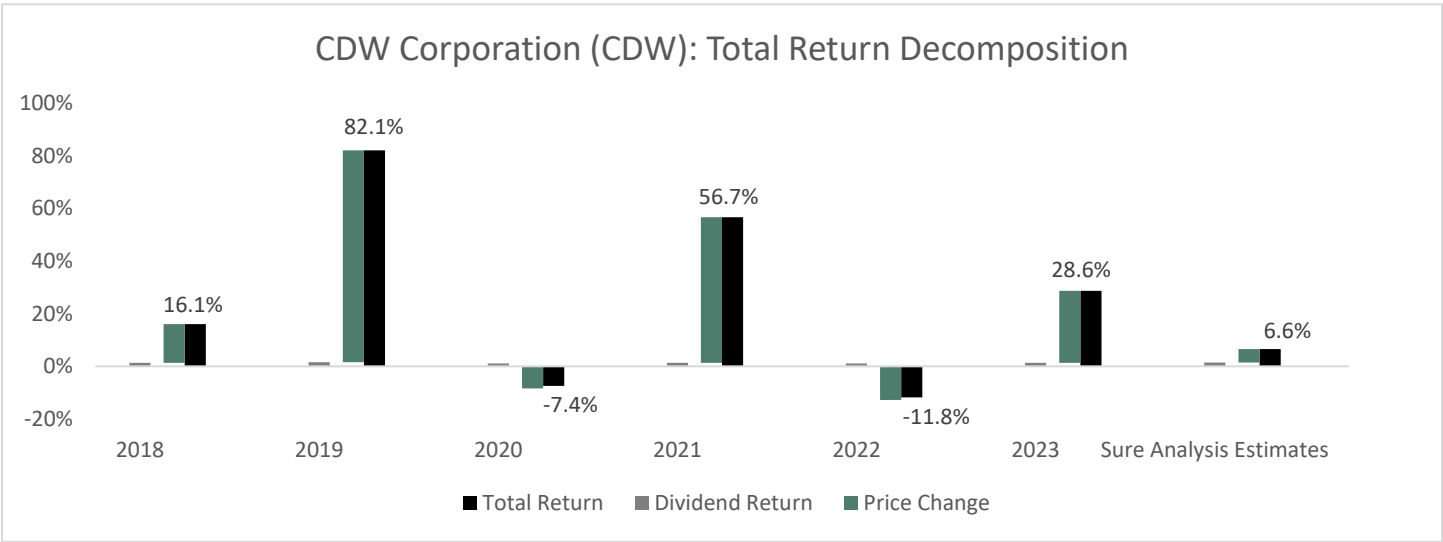

Year	2014	2015	2016	2017	2018	2019	2020	2021	2022	2023	2024	2029
Payout	8.4%	10.6%	14.0%	18.0%	17.8%	20.7%	23.4%	21.3%	21.3%	24.2%	25%	25%

CDW’s competitive advantage lies in its extensive portfolio of technology solutions, strong partnerships with leading technology vendors, and its ability to offer tailored IT solutions to a wide range of clients, from small businesses to large enterprises. The company's deep expertise in cloud computing, security, and networking, combined with its consultative approach, enables it to serve as a trusted advisor to its customers. Its diverse customer base across industries such as business, government, healthcare, and education also provide stability, even during economic fluctuations. The company has a debt-to-equity ratio of 2.7, which is a little on the high side, but it does cover the interest by 7.8 times. Currently the company has an investment grade rating of BBB- from S&P Credit rating.

Final Thoughts & Recommendation

Investing in CDW Corporation carries risks related to economic downturns, which can lead to reduced IT spending by businesses, government, and other sectors. The company also faces competitive pressures from both large technology vendors and smaller niche players in the IT solutions space. Additionally, shifts in technology trends or customer preferences, such as rapid changes in cloud or cybersecurity needs, could impact its ability to maintain growth and profitability. However, at the current price, we rate the stock as a Hold because of the expected five-year annual return of 6.6%.
