Overview & Current Events

Since its founding in 1975, TriCo Bancshares has blossomed into a major community bank in California. The company operates as the holding company for Tri Counties Bank. As of September 30th, 2024, TCBK's asset base was $9.8 billion. The Chico, California-based bank has nearly six dozen bank branch locations throughout the Golden State in 31 counties. These locations are as far north as Yreka (in Siskiyou County bordering Oregon) and as far south as San Diego.

The company provides a wide variety of personal, small business, and commercial banking services to the communities that it serves. These include personal checking and savings accounts, residential and commercial mortgage loans, auto loans, personal loans, agricultural loans, and real estate construction loans. TCBK also offers safe deposit boxes, treasury management services, and brokerage services through an arrangement with Raymond James Financial Services, Inc. Advanced online/mobile banking, ~40,000 surcharge-free ATMs nationwide, and banker support by phone seven days a week make the bank an appealing option for new and existing customers alike.

It's also worth noting that the bank has a corporate history of being a measured and opportunistic acquirer. In July 2018, the company acquired FNB Bancorp. At the time, this further complemented TCBK's presence in Northern California and added $1.2 billion to its asset base. In March 2022, the company also acquired Valley Republic Bancorp and its $1.4 billion in assets. The rationale for this deal was that it expanded TCBK's lending capabilities and product offerings.

On October 24th, TCBK released its financial results for the third quarter ended September 30th. The company's net interest income decreased by 6.3% year-over-year to $82.6 million during the quarter. Higher-yielding deposits led the net interest margin to contract by 17 basis points over the year-ago period to 3.71% in the quarter. Noninterest income rose by 3.2% year-over-year to $16.5 million for the quarter. TCBK's diluted EPS declined by 4.3% over the year-ago period to $0.88 during the quarter. That topped the analyst consensus by $0.07 in the quarter.

Growth on a Per-Share Basis

Year	2014	2015	2016	2017	2018	2019	2020	2021	2022	2023	2024	2029
EPS	$1.46	$1.90	$1.94	$2.21	$2.54	$3.00	$2.16	$3.94	$3.83	$3.52	$3.38	$4.52
DPS	$0.44	$0.52	$0.60	$0.66	$0.70	$0.82	$0.88	$1.00	$1.10	$1.20	$1.32	$1.77
Shares²	22.7	22.8	22.9	23.0	30.4	30.5	29.7	29.7	33.3	33.3	33.0	35.7

Like most community banks, TCBK has been hurt by the macroenvironment in recent years. On the bright side, the company's turnaround appears to be progressing. TCBK's net interest margin improved by three basis points sequentially versus the Q2 figure of 3.68%. As the Federal Reserve should keep cutting interest rates, TCBK's net interest margin should keep expanding. This is why we're reaffirming our expectations of 6% annual diluted EPS growth over the medium term.

Valuation Analysis

Year	2014	2015	2016	2017	2018	2019	2020	2021	2022	2023	2024	2029
Avg. P/E	16.7	14.4	17.6	17.2	13.2	13.4	16.3	10.9	13.3	12.2	12.5	14.5
Avg. Yld.	1.8%	1.9%	1.8%	1.7%	2.1%	2.0%	2.5%	2.3%	2.2%	2.8%	3.1%	2.7%

Since our previous update, TCBK's P/E ratio has dipped to just 12.5 via a slight selloff and an improved diluted EPS forecast. For context, the bank's valuation multiple has ranged from the low- double-digits to the high teens since 2014. The company's average P/E ratio in that time has been 14.5. Looking ahead, we still think that's a reasonable fair value for TCBK. This is because the medium-term business outlook remains decent.

Safety, Quality, Competitive Advantage, & Recession Resiliency

Year	2014	2015	2016	2017	2018	2019	2020	2021	2022	2023	2024	2029
Payout	30%	27%	31%	30%	28%	27%	41%	25%	29%	34%	39%	39%

As alluded to earlier, TCBK's sheer number of surcharge-free ATMs that are within its network and its top-notch mobile app are factors that help it competitively. So, the bank not only stands out among community bank peers but can even give regional and national banks a run for their money.

Like its peers, TCBK experienced difficulties during the Great Recession. The company's diluted EPS plunged from $1.64 in 2006 and bottomed out in 2010 at $0.37. It wasn't until 2013 that diluted EPS advanced beyond pre-Great Recession levels. That prompted the company to cut its dividend payment by 30.8% from $0.52 in 2009 to $0.36 in 2011.

Since that time, though, TCBK has consistently grown its payout. The company is far from immune to the risk of another dividend cut. However, it is in a better position to weather an economic downturn in the future. This is because the payout ratio will be around 39% in 2024.

This year is likely to represent a bottoming out for TCBK's diluted EPS. So, such a payout ratio leaves some room for a deterioration in the macroeconomic outlook. As of September 30th, the company also maintained $4.1 billion in liquidity. This comfortably covered estimated uninsured deposits, with a coverage ratio of 163%.

Final Thoughts & Recommendation

TCBK's 3.1% dividend yield, 6.0% annual diluted EPS growth potential, and 3.0% annual valuation multiple contraction could produce 11.7% annual total returns over the next five years. TCBK looks to be attractive once again, so we're upgrading it back to a buy.
