Overview & Current Events

Quest Diagnostics Inc. is the world's leading provider of diagnostic information services. The company offers diagnostic testing services for cancer, cardiovascular disease, infectious disease, neurological disorders, COVID-19, and employment and court-ordered drug testing. Quest operates in the United States, Puerto Rico, Mexico, and Brazil. The company was initially founded as Metropolitan Pathology Laboratory, Inc., in 1967 by Paul A. Brown, MD. Through acquisitions and spinoffs, Quest Diagnostics Inc. was formed on December 31, 1996. Quest annually serves one in three adult Americans, half the physicians and hospitals in the United States, and nearly 50,000 employees. The company trades under the ticker DGX on the New York Stock Exchange. The company has a market cap of $18.1 billion and has twelve consecutive years of dividend growth. The most recent dividend increase was on February 1, 2024, when the company increased its dividend by 5.6%, from $0.71 per share per quarter to $0.75 per share per quarter.

On October 22nd, 2024, Quest Diagnostics reported third quarter results for Fiscal Year (FY)2024. The company delivered strong financial results in Q3 2024, reporting an 8.5% increase in revenues to $2.49 billion, driven by 4.2% organic growth, new customer acquisitions, and contributions from recent purchases like LifeLabs. Diagnostic Information Services revenues rose by 9% to $2.43 billion, while requisition volume grew 5.5%, with organic growth contributing 0.5%. Adjusted diluted EPS improved by 3.6% to $2.30, although operating income declined by 3.3% to $330 million due to higher costs, reducing the operating margin from 14.9% to 13.3%.

For the first nine months of 2024, Quest reported $7.25 billion in revenues, up 4.1% year-over-year. Adjusted diluted EPS rose 2.1% to $6.70, while reported EPS slightly decreased to $5.74. Operating cash flow grew 17% to $870 million, reflecting efficient cash management. The company remains focused on integrating acquisitions and managing costs to maintain profitability, despite challenges such as Hurricane Milton, which is projected to impact Q4 revenues by $15 million and EPS by $0.08.

Quest updated its full-year 2024 guidance to reflect stronger-than-expected contributions from acquisitions. Revenues are now forecasted at $9.80–$9.85 billion, up from previous projections, with adjusted EPS expected at $8.85–$8.95. The company also plans $420 million in capital expenditures for the year. With eight acquisitions anticipated by year-end, Quest aims to drive accelerated revenue and earnings growth into 2025.

Direct-to-Consumer testing methods. However, we estimate that earnings will grow at 3% for the next five years, giving an EPS of $10.32 per share for 2029.

Valuation Analysis

Year	2014	2015	2016	2017	2018	2019	2020	2021	2022	2023	Now	2029
Avg. P/E	14.9	14.9	17.9	17.4	13.2	16.3	10.7	12.2	15.7	15.8	18.1	14.0

The company has a PE of 18.1x as of this report, which is higher with its ten-year average of 14.9, and higher than its five-year average of 14.1. However, we think that a fair PE multiple of 14x is reasonable. This provides a multiple headwind compression of (5.0)%. The current dividend yield is in line with its ten-year average and the five-year average, 1.9% and 1.8%, respectively.

Safety, Quality, Competitive Advantage, & Recession Resiliency

Year	2014	2015	2016	2017	2018	2019	2020	2021	2022	2023	2024	2029
Payout	29.3%	31.9%	32.0%	31.7%	32.2%	32.3%	20.0%	17.4%	26.1%	32.0%	33%	40%

Quest's competitive advantage is that it is a mature and market leader Company in the diagnostic information services industry. While this field is technically more susceptible to competition, it will require a lot of capital to build lab capacities. During the Great Recession, Quest grew earnings during that period. In 2008 EPS was $3.23 per share, and in 2009 it rose 20% to $3.88 per share. During the COVID-19 pandemic, earnings saw a tremendous growth of 70% as the company provided most of the COVID-19 tests. Quest has a BBB+ credit rating, which is an investment grade. The debt/equity ratio is 0.9, which is excellent, and the company has interest coverage of 7.1. Overall, the balance sheet is very healthy. The dividend payout ratio is low, and the company has had a dividend growth rate of 6.8% over the past five years. So, the dividend will continue to grow at a high rate.

Final Thoughts & Recommendation

Overall, Quest Diagnostic Inc. is a well-run company with a history of steady growth in earnings. The risk with purchasing shares of this company would be the post-pandemic normalization. As COVID-19 testing decreases, it will also decrease the company earnings to the 2018-2019 level. We estimate a 0.2% total annualized rate of return for the next five years. Most of it comes from earnings growth and the dividend. Thus, we rate the stock a sell.
