Overview & Current Events

Walker & Dunlop, Inc. (WD) is headquartered in Bethesda, Maryland and provides financing and advisory services for multifamily and commercial real estate across the United States. Operating through Capital Markets, Servicing & Asset Management, and Corporate segments, the company offers various loan products, including first mortgage, construction, mezzanine, and small-balance loans. It specializes in financing for multifamily, affordable, senior, and student housing through programs like Fannie Mae's DUS. Walker & Dunlop also acts as a debt broker, provides property sales brokerage, appraisals, investment banking, and market research services, and manages loans and third-party capital in tax credit equity funds. Founded in 1937, it has a long-standing presence in the real estate finance sector.

Walker & Dunlop delivered strong third quarter 2024 results, reflecting improving conditions in the commercial real estate market. Transaction volume surged 36% year-over-year to $11.6 billion, fueled by increased activity across property sales, debt brokerage, and government-sponsored enterprise (GSE) financing. Notably, property sales climbed 44% to $3.6 billion, and GSE loan volumes grew, with $3.5 billion closed in Q3. This robust performance led to a 33% rise in diluted earnings per share to $0.85.

The company highlighted its strategic focus on key growth areas, including affordable housing and technology-enabled businesses. HUD lending volumes grew over 200% to $272 million, making Walker & Dunlop the second-largest HUD multifamily lender in 2024. Meanwhile, initiatives like Apprise, a valuation technology platform, and Small Balance Lending demonstrated continued scalability, with revenues growing sequentially each quarter. Walker & Dunlop's servicing portfolio expanded to $134 billion, contributing stable recurring revenues. However, challenges within the credit risk portfolio persisted, with seven defaults totaling $60 million and additional reserves established. Despite these headwinds, management expressed confidence in the portfolio's resilience, citing strong underwriting standards and sufficient loss reserves.

Looking ahead, Walker & Dunlop anticipates continued momentum as it navigates a recovering market. Management expects growth in transaction volumes driven by pent-up demand, stabilized rates, and a resurgence in refinancing activity. The company reiterated its full-year guidance for mid-single to low-teens growth in adjusted EBITDA and adjusted core EPS. Walker & Dunlop remains well-positioned to capitalize on the new commercial real estate cycle, leveraging its expanded platform, strong GSE relationships, and innovative technology solutions.

We forecast 10% annualized earnings per share growth over the next half-decade for Walker & Dunlop. The main growth drivers will likely be strategic acquisitions and employee hires, diversification into emerging sectors as it has done with single-family rentals and build-for-rent in the past, technology improvements to its services, and doubling down its focus on high-growth markets. That said, the company is also going to face its fair share of challenges in accomplishing its growth aims as the commercial real estate finance industry is highly competitive and the sector is pretty economically sensitive. In particular, commercial real estate is facing challenges due to the wall of debt maturing in the coming years that will have to be refinanced at materially higher interest rates.

Valuation Analysis

| Year      | 2014 | 2015 | 2016 | 2017 | 2018 | 2019 | 2020 | 2021 | 2022 | 2023 | Now  | 2029 |
|-----------|------|------|------|------|------|------|------|------|------|------|------|------|
| Avg. P/E  | 12.2 | 13.7 | 14.8 | 8.7  | 8.7  | 12.2 | 12.6 | 19.6 | 15.0 | 39.4 | 21.7 | 18.0 |
| Avg. Yld. | NA   | NA   | NA   | NA   | 2.7% | 2.1% | 1.7% | 1.4% | 3.2% | 2.3% | 2.7% | 2.7% |

Walker & Dunlop currently trades at 21.7 times its earnings, which seems pretty reasonable based on its recent history. That said, we think that the company's growth will slow over time as pressures from competition in the industry weigh on the company as well as the fact that its growing size will make it more difficult to sustain its growth rate. As a result, we think that over time, a lower valuation multiple of 18x will be warranted.

Safety, Quality, Competitive Advantage, & Recession Resiliency

| Payout | 56%  | 53%  | 58%  | 69%  | 23%  | 26%  | 22%  | 28%  | 48%  | 92%  | 59%  | 49%  |

Walker & Dunlop's competitive advantage is rooted in its comprehensive service offerings and strong relationships with government-sponsored enterprises (GSEs) like Fannie Mae and Freddie Mac. These partnerships enable the company to provide clients with a diverse range of financing solutions, enhancing its market position. Additionally, Walker & Dunlop's investments in technology and data analytics have streamlined operations and improved client services, further distinguishing it from competitors. That said, the company is far from recession-proof as a downturn in the commercial real estate market would likely weigh pretty heavily on the company.

Final Thoughts & Recommendation

We expect that strong growth alongside a decent dividend yield will be partially offset by some valuation multiple compression to result in 8.5% annualized total returns for Walker & Dunlop. As a result, we rate it a Hold.
