Overview & Current Events

McCormick & Company produces, markets, and distributes seasoning mixes, spices, condiments and other products to customers in the food industry. McCormick was founded in 1889 by Willoughby M. McCormick and controls ~20% of the global seasoning and spice market.

On November 19th, 2024, McCormick announced that it was increasing its quarterly dividend 7.1% to $0.45, extending the company's dividend growth streak to 39 consecutive years.

On March 25th, 2025, McCormick reported first quarter results for the period ending February 28th, 2025. For the quarter, revenue grew 0.6% $1.6 billion, which was in-line with estimates. Adjusted earnings-per-share of $0.60 compared unfavorably to $0.63 in the prior year and was $0.04 less than expected.

For the quarter, volume and mix improved 2.2% while pricing was lower by 0.2%. The Consumer segment grew 1.2% for the period. Volume and mix improvements (+2.6) were only partially offset by pricing (-1.4%). Organic growth for the Americas inched higher by 0.1% while EMEA grew 3.6% and Asia/Pacific increased 2.7%. All regions saw volume growth while pricing for the Americas fell 2.8%. Flavor Solutions grew 3.3% as pricing (+1.5%) and volume (+1.8%) were both positive for the period. This growth was driven by a 15.3% improvement in Asia/Pacific thanks to impressive volume increases. The Americas grew 3.6% while EMEA was down 3.9%. McCormick's gross margin expanded 20 basis points to 37.6% for the quarter.

McCormick reaffirmed prior guidance for 2025 as well. The company still expects revenue to be in a range of flat to up 2% compared to 2024. Adjusted earnings-per-share are projected to be in a range of $2.99 to $3.04.

Growth on a Per-Share Basis

Prior to 2022, McCormick had increased earnings-per-share every year for the past ten years. Since 2015, earnings have increased at an average rate of 5.9% per year. The addition of RB Foods and other acquisitions have worked in the company's favor, especially in the area of hot sauce, where McCormick now has the top two brands in the $5 billion market. In fact, we feel that the company's acquisition over the past few years will help to aid earnings growth going forward. We reaffirm our projected annual earnings growth rate of 7% through 2030.

The new annualized dividend of $1.80 per share equates to a 2.4% yield at current prices. We assume dividends will grow by 7% annually through 2030.

Valuation Analysis

Year	2015	2016	2017	2018	2019	2020	2021	2022	2023	2024	Now	2030
Avg. P/E	22.5	25.1	22.9	23.3	28.3	33.8	31.7	32.9	25.7	26.1	24.8	25.0
Avg. Yld.	2.0%	1.8%	1.9%	1.6%	1.3%	1.3%	1.4%	1.8%	2.4%	2.2%	2.4%	2.4%

Shares of McCormick are unchanged since our January 24th, 2025 report. Based off earnings estimates for the year, the stock trades with a price-to-earnings ratio of 24.8. We are reaffirming our 2030 price-to-earnings ratio target of 25 to better reflect the stock's average valuation over the last decade. We believe this multiple is warranted given McCormick's performance during the pandemic as well as the strength of the company's core business and leadership position in its industry. If the stock reverted to our target P/E by 2030, then valuation would be a 0.1% tailwind to annual returns over this period.

Safety, Quality, Competitive Advantage, & Recession Resiliency

Year	2015	2016	2017	2018	2019	2020	2021	2022	2023	2024	2025	2030
Payout	46%	46%	44%	42%	43%	45%	45%	59%	62%	58%	60%	60%

McCormick's competitive advantage stems from its 20% market share of the global market for seasonings and spices. McCormick is four times as large as its nearest competitor, which gives it unmatched size and scale. With a portfolio of popular products, the company has the ability to negotiate with retailers on pricing and shelf space. Shares of McCormick performed remarkably well during the last recession. While many companies saw declining earnings per share during the Great Recession, McCormick increased its earnings in 2008 and 2009.

Final Thoughts & Recommendation

After first quarter results, McCormick & Company is expected to return 9.3% through 2030, matching our prior estimate. Our projected return stems from an expected annual earnings growth rate of 7%, a starting yield of 2.4%, and a small tailwind from multiple expansion. McCormick had enjoyed pricing power in recent years, but this was mixed during the most recent period. Volume gains were seen in almost every region and the company remains a leader in its industry. We also note that the current dividend yield is higher than usual for the stock. We maintain our five-year price target of $106, but now rate shares of McCormick as a buy due to projected results.
