Overview & Current Events

PNC Financial Services is headquartered in Pittsburgh, Pennsylvania, and it is one of the largest diversified financial services companies in the U.S. It is engaged in retail banking as well as corporate and institutional banking and asset management. Its retail network is located primarily in markets across the Mid-Atlantic, Midwest and Southeast. PNC currently has a market capitalization of $62.1 billion.

On June 1st, 2021, PNC completed its acquisition of BBVA USA Bancshares from the Spanish financial group BBVA for $11.6 billion in cash. It acquired more than 600 branches in Texas, Alabama, Arizona, California, Florida, Colorado and New Mexico and became the fifth largest bank in assets, with a presence in 29 of the 30 largest U.S. markets.

In mid-April, PNC reported (4/15/25) financial results for the first quarter of fiscal 2025. Net interest margin expanded sequentially from 2.75% to 2.78% but net interest income dipped -1%, mostly due to two fewer days in the quarter. Given also higher provisions for loan losses, which resulted from a weaker economic outlook and portfolio activity, earnings-per-share fell -7% sequentially, from $3.77 to $3.51, though they exceeded the analysts' consensus by $0.13. PNC has exceeded the analysts' earnings-per-share estimates in 16 of the last 19 quarters. The bank improved its net interest margin for a fourth consecutive quarter and expects record net interest income in 2025 thanks to lower deposit costs. Given this tailwind, we expect approximate growth of earnings-per-share of 9% this year, to a new all-time high. On the other hand, due to the expected effect of tariffs on inflation, we do not expect interest rates to decrease further this year.

Growth on a Per-Share Basis

Year	2015	2016	2017	2018	2019	2020	2021	2022	2023	2024	2025	2030
EPS	$7.39	$7.30	$10.36	$10.71	$9.57	$6.36	$14.18	$13.96	$14.10	$13.74	$15.00	$20.07

PNC was significantly affected by the pandemic in 2020, but the bank has recovered strongly. PNC has consistently pursued growth by expanding into attractive markets, growing its loan base organically and acquiring other banks. We expect a tailwind from a lower cost of deposits in the upcoming years and a tailwind from an increase in the loan/deposit ratio of the bank. PNC has grown its earnings-per-share at a 7.1% average annual rate in the last decade and at a 7.5% average annual rate in the last five years. Given the high comparison base formed by the record earnings-per-share expected this year, we expect the bank to grow its earnings-per-share at a 6.0% average annual rate beyond this year, somewhat below its historical growth rate.

PNC Financial Services (PNC)

Updated April 15th, 2025 by Aristofanis Papadatos

PNC has slumped -27% off its peak about 5 months ago and thus it is currently trading at a price-to-earnings ratio of 10.5. The stock has traded at an average price-to-earnings ratio of 12.3 over the last decade. If it trades at its average valuation level in five years, it will enjoy a 3.3% annualized gain in its returns.

Safety, Quality, Competitive Advantage, & Recession Resiliency

Year	2015	2016	2017	2018	2019	2020	2021	2022	2023	2024	2025	2030
Payout	27.2%	29.0%	25.1%	31.7%	43.9%	72.3%	33.9%	41.2%	43.3%	45.9%	42.7%	42.7%

PNC raised its dividend by 3% last year and thus it has raised its dividend for 14 consecutive years. It froze its dividend for 8 consecutive quarters due to the pandemic, but it has resumed raising its dividend thanks to its ongoing recovery. Thanks to a healthy payout ratio of 43%, the dividend should be considered safe. In addition, the bank has reduced its share count by -24% in the last nine years.

On the other hand, investors should be aware that PNC is vulnerable to recessions. In the Great Recession, PNC cut its dividend by -85% while in the coronavirus crisis it saw its earnings-per-share fall -34%. Therefore, in the scenario of another recession, the stock of PNC could come under great pressure, just like it did at the outbreak of the virus, when it plunged nearly -50% in just five weeks. Only the investors who can tolerate such a high stock price volatility should consider PNC.

Final Thoughts & Recommendation

The net interest margin of PNC has begun to recover in the last four quarters and the bank expects record net interest income in 2025. As a result, we expect record earnings-per-share this year. Notably, the stock has shed -27% off its peak last year due to a deteriorating economic outlook amid the implementation of tariffs. Consequently, the stock has become cheaply valued. It could offer a 12.7% average annual return over the next five years thanks to 6.0% earnings-per-share growth, its 4.1% dividend and a 3.3% annualized expansion of the valuation level. The stock maintains its hold rating.
