Overview & Current Events

The Public Service Enterprise Group (PEG) is a publicly-traded diversified energy company headquartered in Newark, New Jersey, established in 1985. However, The company has a history that dates back to 1903, when it was initially called Public Service Corporation. PEG's principal operating subsidiaries are Public Service Electric and Gas Co. (PSE&G), PSEG Power, and PSEG Long Island. The company is one of the ten largest electric companies in the U.S. PSE&G provides electric and natural gas services and services to 2.3 million electric customers and 1.9 million gas customers. PSE&G accounted for over 66% of PEG revenues in 2024. PEG has approximately 13,000 employees and a market cap of $39.4 billion. The company has been growing dividends for fourteen consecutive years, and PEG has been paying the same or higher dividends for 21 years in a row.

On April 30th, 2025, the company reported first quarter results for Fiscal Year (FY)2025. The company reported Q1 2025 net income of $589 million, up 11% from $532 million in Q1 2024, with GAAP EPS of $1.18 versus $1.06. Non-GAAP operating earnings rose 9% to $718 million, with EPS of $1.43, up from $1.31. Revenue increased 17% to $3.222 billion from $2.760 billion, driven by new PSE&G electric and gas rates and higher PSEG Power prices. Operating income grew 16% to $797 million, despite higher expenses. PSE&G's net income was $546 million, up from $488 million, reflecting infrastructure investments and winter gas demand, offset by higher costs. PSEG Power & Other's net income was $43 million, slightly down from $44 million, but non-GAAP earnings rose to $172 million from $169 million, fueled by nuclear performance (8.4 TWh, 99.9% capacity factor).

PSEG maintained its 2025 non-GAAP operating earnings guidance of $3.94–$4.06 per share. The company declared a $0.63 per share dividend, up 5% to an annual $2.52, payable Q1 2025. PSE&G saw a record winter peak load and managed over 6,400 MW in new service inquiries. CEO Ralph LaRossa emphasized reliable operations, cost management, and a 5–7% earnings growth outlook through 2029, supported by regulated investments and potential nuclear contracts.

The company does not have strong growth prospects as it is a utility company and heavily regulated by the government. However, we estimate a 6% annual earnings growth rate for the next five years. This is higher than the 3.2% growth rate that the company has experienced for the past 5-year average. It is also higher than the 2.6% earnings growth over the past decade. The dividend has been growing slightly better than earnings. The dividend has had a CAGR of 5.2% for the past five years. We see this slowing down, and we estimate a dividend growth rate of 4% going forward. The net margin has increased from 14.8% in FY2018 to 16.8% in FY2019. In FY2024, PEG had a net margin of 17.2%.

Valuation Analysis

Year	2015	2016	2017	2018	2019	2020	2021	2022	2023	2024	2025	2030
Avg. P/E	13.3	15.1	17.6	16.7	17.9	17.0	18.3	17.7	17.6	22.9	19.8	15.0
Avg. Yld.	4.0%	3.7%	3.3%	3.5%	3.2%	3.4%	3.1%	3.5%	3.7%	2.8%	3.2%	3.8%

The company looks to be overvalued at today's price. Because of the slow growth prospects, we think that a fair PE is 15.0x earnings. This is lower than the company's 10-year average PE of 17.4x. Thus, we see an annual headwind due to multiple contractions. The current dividend yield of 3.2% is lower than its 5-year average of 3.4% and not as attractive as other utility companies with a higher dividend yield.

Safety, Quality, Competitive Advantage, & Recession Resiliency

Year	2015	2016	2017	2018	2019	2020	2021	2022	2023	2024	2025	2030
Payout	54%	57%	59%	58%	57%	57%	56%	62%	66%	65%	63%	57%

PEG's competitive advantage is its state-regulated business, which requires excessive capital expenses for infrastructure and poses high entry barriers to potential competitors. During the Great Recession of 2008-2009, The Company grew earnings from $2.71 in 2007 to $2.92 in 2008 and $3.12 in 2009. The dividend was well covered, and the company increased its dividend by 10.3% in 2008. This shows the dividend safety and the resilience of this company. However, in 2011, the company froze its dividend, losing its dividend increase streak, but it has grown since then. The company has a stable balance sheet with a debt-to-equity ratio of 1.3. Interest coverage ratio of 3.1x. However, the company does have more debt than assets, as the current ratio is 0.8. PEG's dividend payout ratio has been in the uptrend but is still safe for the foreseeable future.

Final Thoughts & Recommendation

The company is safe to invest in, as most utility companies are. However, at the current price, PEG is overvalued relative to our fair price estimate of $60. There are not many growth prospects available to the company currently. Thus, we see a 5-year projected annual return of 3.6%. Most of this return will come from the 3.2% dividend yield. We rate PEG as a hold at the current price.
