Overview & Current Events

The Hanover Insurance Group, Inc. (THG) is a holding company whose primary business is offering property and casualty insurance products and services. The company markets itself through independent agents and brokers in the United States. In 2024, Personal Lines accounted for approximately 41% of segmented revenues; Commercial Lines, 36%; Other Property & Casualty, 23%. The company operates an investment portfolio that is primarily exposed to fixed-income securities. The Hanover Insurance Group, Inc. was founded in 1852 and is headquartered in Worcester, Massachusetts.

On April 30th, 2025, The Hanover Insurance Group reported its financial results for the first quarter for the period ending March 31st, 2025. The company announced net income of $128.2 million, or $3.50 per diluted share, which was a significant improvement from $115.5 million, or $3.18 per diluted share, in the same period the previous year. Operating income for the quarter was $141.8 million, or $3.87 per diluted share, compared to $111.9 million, or $3.08 per diluted share, in the prior-year quarter.

The combined ratio for the first quarter, excluding catastrophes, was 87.8%, reflecting continued effective pricing and margin recapture initiatives across its three segments. This improvement was driven by strong underwriting discipline, with the Specialty and Core Commercial segments showing renewal price increases of 8.4% and 11.1%, respectively. Net investment income rose by 18.3% to $106.1 million, supported by higher bond reinvestment yields and higher operational cashflows. The overall combined ratio stood at 94.1%, with catastrophe losses of $95.6 million, or 6.3 points of the combined ratio, driven primarily by California wildfires and convective storms. Net premiums written grew by 3.9% to $1.51 billion, with stable performance across all segments. Notably, renewal price increases in Personal Lines reached 13.1%, driven by disciplined growth and strategic pricing adjustments. Moreover, book value per share increased to $84.56, up 6.8% from December 31st, 2024, reflecting strong quarterly earnings and improved investment portfolio performance.

The company's 2025 outlook projects accelerating net premium growth throughout the year, reflecting strong pricing and underwriting discipline. The expense ratio is expected to remain stable at 30.5%, emphasizing cost management efficiency. The company anticipates a combined ratio (excluding catastrophes) in the range of 88.5% to 89.5%, underscoring its focus on maintaining profitability. For the first quarter of 2025, a catastrophe load of 6.0% was initially planned, though actual catastrophe impact came in slightly higher at 6.3%. These metrics position Hanover for continued growth and solid financial performance in 2025.

The Hanover Insurance Group, Inc. (THG)

Updated May 14th, 2025, by Patrick Neuwirth

The Hanover Insurance Group long-term earnings growth track record shows instability, with the company’s earnings-per-share having dropped in the fiscal years 2016 and 2022. We expect Hanover Insurance recover from the 2022 & 2023 EPS dip and grow its earnings-per-share by 8% per year on average over the next five years, mainly driven by premium growth, assisted by optimizing costs, recording greater gains on its fixed-income investment positions. This growth rate is more conservative compared to the company’s expectations for double-digit growth for the next five years. The company has taken decisive action in response to elevated catastrophe loss trends, which we believe is essential to return to the target profitability objectives. Hanover Insurance has a long history of paying dividends and has 20 consecutive years of annual dividend increases. In December 2024, the board increased the quarterly dividend by 5.9% from $0.85 to $0.90. Over the last five years, the average annual growth rate is 6.3%.

Valuation Analysis

Year	2015	2016	2017	2018	2019	2020	2021	2022	2023	2024	Now	2030
Avg. P/E	12.2	19.4	19.7	17.2	15.4	11.5	13.2	15.0	13.3	13.4	11.2	15.0

The last few years Hanover Insurance’s valuation has declined from the peak level (19.7) that it reached during 2017. During COVID, its share price declined to around $83 before climbing back to $150 levels in April 2022. During the past decade shares of Hanover Insurance have traded with an average price-to-earnings ratio of about 15 times earnings. We are using 15 times earnings also as a fair value baseline, implying the potential for a valuation tailwind.

Safety, Quality, Competitive Advantage, & Recession Resiliency

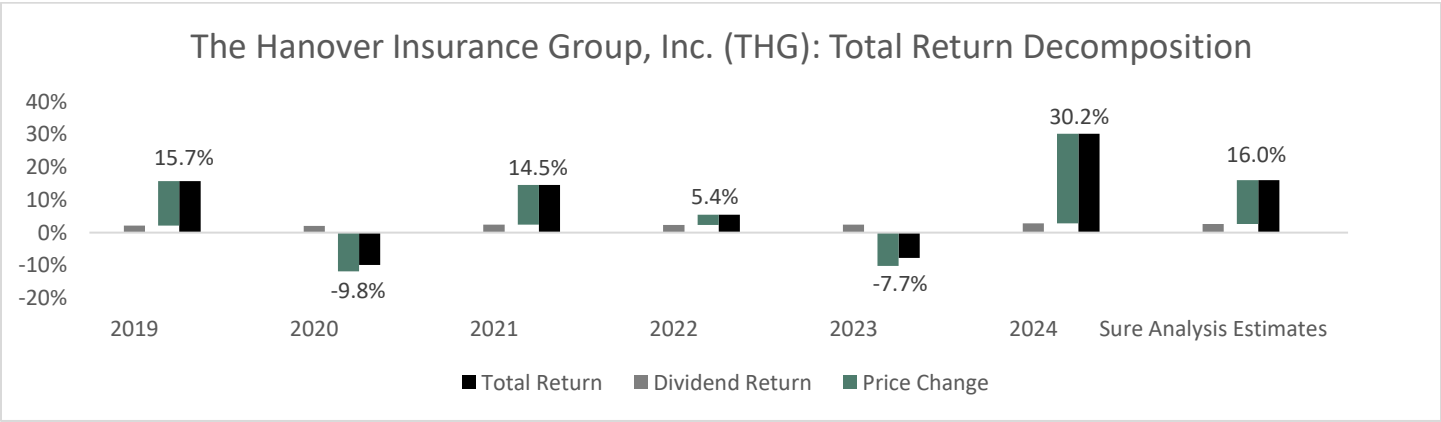

Year	2015	2016	2017	2018	2019	2020	2021	2022	2023	2024	2025	2030

During the past five years the company’s dividend payout ratio has averaged around 70%. With the current expected payout ratio of 25%, THG’s dividend payments are covered by earnings. The Hanover Insurance Group is a diversified and solid insurer with a differentiated P&C franchise in a fragmented market. With their differentiating strategy, such as specialized products and distinctive agency partnerships, the company can strengthen its competitive advantages. Furthermore, Hanover Insurance has a S&P and AM Best “A”-rating and a stable outlook. However, the insurance industry is subject to fluctuations and volatility due to various factors, including weather events, regulatory changes, and economic conditions.

Final Thoughts & Recommendation

The Hanover Insurance Group has a healthy balance sheet and ambitious financial targets for the next five years. The expected total returns for the stock are 16.0% per year, driven by 8% projected earnings growth, a 2.2% dividend yield, and a valuation tailwind. The company earns a buy rating based on the projected returns.
