Overview & Current Events

SpartanNash is a value-added wholesale grocery distributor and retailer. The corporation supplies 2,300 independent grocery retail locations in the United States. The company also owns almost 200 supermarkets. SpartanNash operates under retail banners such as Family Fare, Martin's Super Markets and D&W Fresh Market, to name a few. The company is also a distributor of grocery products to U.S. military commissaries. The food distribution company has a market capitalization of $608 million and trades on the NYSE under the ticker symbol SPTN. SPTN is headquartered in Grand Rapids, Michigan. The company employs roughly 20,000 associates.

The SpartanNash company was formed as a merger between Spartan Stores and the Nash Finch Company in November 2013. The Nash Finch company started as a family-owned business in 1885. Spartan Stores was created in 1917 when 100 independent retailers grouped together to purchase products in bulk and pass along savings to the customers. In 2017, SpartanNash acquired Caito Foods, a company specializing in fresh produce distribution and certain assets from Blue Ribbon Transport, a managed freight, and logistics solutions company.

In 2024, SpartanNash acquired Metcalfe's Market, a three-store grocery chain in Wisconsin, Fresh Encounter Inc., a 49-store chain across Ohio, Indiana and Kentucky, and Markham Enterprises Inc., a three-store chain of convenience stores and fuel distributor in Michigan.

SpartanNash reported first quarter 2025 results on May 29th, 2025. Net sales of $2.91 billion was a 3.7% increase from $2.81 billion in the same prior-year period. Adjusted earnings decreased by 34% year-over-year to $0.35 per share and adjusted EBITDA rose by 2.7% to $76.9 million.

The company's net long-term debt to adjusted EBITDA ratio rose sequentially from 2.8X to 2.9X during the quarter.

Leadership maintained its guidance for fiscal 2025, expecting adjusted EPS of $1.60 to $1.85 and total net sales of approximately $9.8 to $10 billion.

SpartanNash's adjusted earnings per share have demonstrated a fairly consistent track record of long-term growth. Over the last nine and five years, SPTN has increased adjusted earnings-per-share by 0.3% and 13% on average. Going forward, we believe the company can expect adjusted EPS to grow by 2.0% per year. This increase in earnings will support 3.0% annual growth in the dividend over the next five years as well, which is consistent with the company's nine and five-year average annual dividend growth rates of 5.4% and 2.7%, respectively.

The corporation aims to drive growth, increase efficiencies, and reduce costs. The COVID-19 pandemic increased customer demand for the food distribution business. The company is aiming to achieve nearly $300 million of adjusted

EBITDA in 2025. Initiatives to achieve its target include increasing sales through customer acquisition and continued expansion into value-add offerings, and achieving savings between $125 million to $150 million during fiscal 2022 through fiscal 2025 through its supply chain and merchandising transformation initiatives, its go-to-market plan, marketing innovation, and cost leadership programs.

Valuation Analysis

Year	2015	2016	2017	2018	2019	2020	2021	2022	2023	2024	Now	2030
Avg. P/E	14.4	13.3	14.3	11.1	13.1	7.1	10.0	13.4	11.1	10.1	10.1	11.5
Avg. Yld.	1.9%	2.1%	2.2%	3.5%	5.3%	4.4%	3.8%	2.5%	3.6%	4.3%	4.9%	4.5%

Historically, in the past ten and five years, SPTN has traded for 11.8 and 10.3 times adjusted earnings on average. SpartanNash’s current price-to-adjusted earnings multiple is below its historical average. We peg fair value for the business at 11.5 times adjusted earnings. As a result, we forecast a tailwind to total returns over the next five years.

Safety, Quality, Competitive Advantage, & Recession Resiliency

Year	2015	2016	2017	2018	2019	2020	2021	2022	2023	2024	2025	2030
Payout	27%	27%	31%	39%	69%	31%	38%	36%	39%	43%	49%	52%

The company’s payout ratio has steadily crept up to sit at around 49% of adjusted earnings in 2025. As a result, we expect future dividend growth to come in lower than it has historically. We forecast that dividend growth will continue, and the dividend does not appear to be under threat. During the great financial crisis, earnings fell roughly 25% from start to end, but the company was still highly profitable. People need to eat, and the food business is essential regardless of the economic climate, so SPTN has some built-in recession resiliency. Throughout the crisis, the payout was never at risk.

The company’s competitive advantage is its unique business model of food distribution, retail, and military operations which allows for leveraging efficiencies of each segment, and at the same time supports the ability of its independent retailers to compete in the grocery industry long-term.

Final Thoughts & Recommendation

SpartanNash has a unique history spanning over a century, and a unique business model which promotes high operating efficiencies in the grocery business. We believe shares are currently trading at 88% fair value and offer 8.8% annual total returns over the next five years; thus, we rate SPTN as a hold.
