Overview & Current Events

Community Financial System was formed in 1983 and since that time, it has expanded to become a diversified financial services company with more than 200 locations in the northeastern U.S. Its principal business is traditional community banking, but it also owns a large benefits administration business, in addition to offering a variety of insurance products. Its market capitalization is $2.9 billion, and it produces about $820 million in annual revenue.

Community Financial posted second quarter earnings on July 22nd, 2025, and results were mixed. Adjusted earnings-per-share came to $1.04, which was three cents ahead of estimates. Revenue was up over 8% year-on-year to $199 million, missing expectations by $2 million.

Net interest margin was 3.27%, which was up by 26 basis points year-over-year. This was primarily the result of higher yields on interest-earning assets. Cost of funds was 1.32%. Noninterest revenue was 37.4% of total revenue. Provisions for credit losses was $4.1 million, better than the $6.7 million from Q1.

Loans were up $98 million, mostly from consumer indirect lending. Total deposits were down $190 million, due primarily to seasonal outflows from municipal customers. Year-over-year deposits were higher by $564 million.

CBU boosted its dividend by 2.2%, this time raising it to 47 cents per share quarterly. That marks the 33rd consecutive year of dividend increases. We have largely left our estimate of earnings unchanged at $4.05 per share.

Growth on a Per-Share Basis

Earnings-per-share have been volatile in the past decade but in recent years, growth has been steadier. We see that continuing as the bank is focused on profitable growth, but we forecast 10% earnings-per-share growth annually. We are less cautious given interest rate headwinds are abating, and CBU stands to benefit greatly should that continue. We see interest rates, as well as higher loan balances as drivers for earnings growth.

Community Financial System continues to see earnings tailwinds from very low deposit funding costs and organic revenue growth, as well as a constant flow of acquisitions. Growth-by-acquisition is generally tough in the financial services industry, but Community Financial System has proven adept at executing this strategy over time, and this should be the primary growth driver going forward. Community Financial System is performing well, but its lending margins are already strong, so we think upside from there is somewhat limited. However, credit quality remains favorable.

Dividend growth has been moderate, but management appears to be willing to pay out half of earnings or more on the dividend. We see modest dividend growth ahead given the pace of earnings growth.

Valuation Analysis

Year	2015	2016	2017	2018	2019	2020	2021	2022	2023	2024	Now	2030
Avg. P/E	17.0	18.9	17.8	18.3	19.5	18.5	21.1	17.6	15.6	18.0	13.1	14.0
Avg. Yld.	3.3%	2.9%	2.5%	2.4%	2.5%	2.8%	2.3%	2.8%	3.4%	3.0%	3.5%	2.3%

Community Financial System’s price-to-earnings multiple has moved around significantly in the past decade as its fortunes have improved and deteriorated. We maintain our target valuation of 14 times earnings given the sector is seeing better valuations applied by investors. As the stock trades just below that, we see a modest positive impact from the valuation. We see the dividend yield at 2.3% in five years, lower than today’s levels as we think the share price will markedly outpace growth in the dividend.

Safety, Quality, Competitive Advantage, & Recession Resiliency

Year	2015	2016	2017	2018	2019	2020	2021	2022	2023	2024	2025	2030
Payout	54%	53%	53%	45%	48%	51%	49%	49%	53%	53%	46%	32%

We see the payout ratio remaining under half of earnings for the foreseeable future. The bank’s impressive dividend streak appears to be safe at this point, and we see many more years of increases coming, even if a recession strikes. Growth rates should be low, however, given management’s past tendencies.

Community Financial System’s competitive advantage is its dominant market position in many of its service areas. It competes in areas that have sparse levels of competition and thus the company is able to hold strong market share in those locations, with many at or above a third of total market deposits. That does not make it immune to recessions, but its strong performance means it can be an acquirer during downturns, softening the blow of economic weakness.

Final Thoughts & Recommendation

Overall, Community Financial’s total returns look further improved since our last report. We forecast total annual returns of 13.8%, and we’re reiterating the stock at a hold rating. The 3.5% yield is attractive at more than double the S&P 500, and the growth outlook for the bank remains strong.
