Overview & Current Events

Quaker Chemical Corporation (KWR), which operates as Quaker Houghton, was founded in 1918 as Quaker Oil Products Corporation. The company develops, produces, and markets a broad range of formulated chemical specialty products and offers chemical management services for various heavy industrial and manufacturing applications worldwide. The company's business is divided into four segments, namely the Americas, Europe, Middle East and Africa, Asia/Pacific, and Global Specialty Businesses. With over 35 locations in 21 countries, Quaker Houghton has a global presence and generates more than 50% of net sales outside the United States.

On May 1st, 2025, the company announced results for the first quarter of 2025. KWR reported Q1 non-GAAP EPS of $1.58, missing market estimates by $0.01.

Quaker Houghton, the global leader in industrial process fluids, kicked off 2025 with first-quarter net sales of $442.9 million, marking a 6% dip compared to the same period last year. Soft end-market conditions and ongoing tariff uncertainty continued to weigh on volumes, particularly across the Americas and EMEA regions, despite a lift from recent acquisitions. On a non-GAAP basis, net income came in at $28.0 million. Adjusted EBITDA totaled $69.0 million with a margin of 15.6%, reflecting a 17% decline year-over-year but steady performance versus the previous quarter.

Despite challenging macro conditions, Quaker Houghton remains focused on its growth roadmap. The company recently broadened its portfolio by acquiring Dipsol Chemicals, Natech, and Chemical Solutions & Innovations — strategic moves that deepen its expertise in advanced solutions and metalworking fluids. CEO Joe Berquist noted that while the near-term demand outlook remains murky, the team is confident that these acquisitions, coupled with ongoing cost optimization and a resilient “local for local” supply chain approach, will help deliver steady results and position the company for long-term gains.

Quaker Chemical Corporation is pursuing a range of strategies to realize long-term growth. It is expanding its product portfolio through R&D, focusing on developing innovative solutions. KWR also targets new markets in emerging economies such as Asia, Latin America, and the Middle East by establishing local operations and partnerships. Strategic acquisitions of complementary businesses are also a crucial part of its growth strategy, such as Coral Chemical, allowing for quick access to new technologies and markets. In addition, the company focuses on improving operational efficiency through lean manufacturing and automation, reducing costs, and enhancing profitability.

We have revised our EPS forecast to $7.49 for 2025, which matches the midpoint of analysts' estimates. Additionally, we believe that the firm can grow annually slightly faster than the Special Chemical industry's projected growth of 4%. With a 5.0% annual growth rate, KWR's EPS could reach $9.56 by 2030. Quaker Chemical Corporation's has a DPS growth rate

Quaker Chemical Corporation is trading at a forward P/E of 16.6, significantly lower than the five-year average P/E of 29.1 and its 10-year average of 32.1. Thus, we have assumed a stable P/E of 30.0 to value the company by 2030, close to its historical averages, which suggest a target price of $287.

Safety, Quality, Competitive Advantage, & Recession Resiliency

Year	2015	2016	2017	2018	2019	2020	2021	2022	2023	2024	2025	2030

For heavy industrial and manufacturing applications, Quaker Chemical Corporation enjoys a competitive edge in producing and selling a variety of Special Chemical formulations. Because of this edge over competitors, the business can increase profits and benefit its shareholders. Quaker Chemical demonstrated outstanding financial performance with a 10.0% increase in revenue during FY2022 compared to FY2021 during the most recent economic downturn, and despite macroeconomic challenges, the company maintained resilient profitability in 2024, generating $1.84 billion in net sales while executing strategic acquisitions, cost-saving initiatives, and shareholder returns totaling $82.4 million through dividends and share repurchases.

Final Thoughts & Recommendation

Therefore, our hold rating on the stock premised upon the 19.1% annualized total returns for the medium-term, derived from the forecasted earnings-per-share growth of 5.0%, the 1.6% dividend yield, and a valuation tailwind.
