Overview & Current Events

Founded in 1956, Simpson Manufacturing Co., Inc. is a major designer and manufacturer of wood construction products and concrete construction products via the eponymous Simpson Strong-Tie brand. The former product category includes truss plates and fastening systems. The latter category consists of adhesives, specialty chemicals, and mechanical anchors. These products are sold around the world to residential construction customers, commercial construction customers, and the remodeling and do-it-yourself markets. Additionally, SSD provides engineering/design services and software solutions to support the use of its products. The company is geographically organized into the following three reporting segments:

1. North America: This segment consists of the company's operations in the United States and Canada. Through the first half of 2025, more than three-quarters (78.1%) of the $1.17 billion in total net sales were derived from this segment.
2. Europe: Included in this segment are SSD's operations in various European Union countries, such as Germany, France, and Italy. Non-EU nations consist of the United Kingdom and Norway. This made up another 21.1% of the company's total net sales YTD through Q2 2025.
3. Asia/Pacific: The Asia/Pacific segment sells its products and services in China, Taiwan, Vietnam, New Zealand, and Australia. Through the first half of 2025, the remaining 0.8% of net sales was produced in these markets.

On July 28th, SSD shared its financial results for the second quarter ended June 30th, 2025. The company's net sales grew by 5.7% over the year-ago period to $631.1 million in the quarter. That was powered mostly by a contribution from its 2024 acquisitions and a partial-month benefit from its recent price increases in the North America segment during the quarter. This allowed the segment's net sales to rise by 6.4% year-over-year to $492.7 million for the quarter. The Europe segment benefited from favorable foreign currency translation, which offset lower sales volumes in the quarter. This is how the segment's net sales edged 2.7% higher over the year-ago period to $133.4 million during the quarter. Disciplined control over expenses led SSD's net profit margin to expand by 50 basis points to 16.9% for the quarter. That's how diluted EPS jumped 6.9% year-over-year to $2.47 in the quarter. This topped the analyst consensus by $0.21.

Growth on a Per-Share Basis

Year	2015	2016	2017	2018	2019	2020	2021	2022	2023	2024	2025	2030

Over the past decade, SSD has compounded its diluted EPS at nearly 21% annually. In the years ahead, we believe 10% annual diluted EPS growth off a 2025 base of $8.30 is realistic through 2030. SSD's new product launch schedule for dozens of new products each year, facility expansions, and incremental acquisitions are each tailwinds.

¹Share count is in millions.

Valuation Analysis

Year	2015	2016	2017	2018	2019	2020	2021	2022	2023	2024	2025	2030
Avg. P/E	24.7	23.5	29.0	19.4	27.2	21.9	22.7	11.4	24.0	21.8	21.7	22.0
Avg. Yld.	1.8%	1.6%	1.4%	1.6%	1.1%	1.0%	0.7%	1.2%	0.5%	0.7%	0.6%	0.5%

Going back to 2015, SSD’s valuation multiple has varied from the low double-digits to the upper 20s. Throughout that time, the average P/E ratio has been 22.6. Moving forward, we continue to believe that a P/E ratio of approximately 22 is a reasonable projection. That’s because SSD’s growth prospects seem to be intact. Compared to the current P/E ratio of 21.7, shares appear to be trading around fair value.

Safety, Quality, Competitive Advantage, & Recession Resiliency

Year	2015	2016	2017	2018	2019	2020	2021	2022	2023	2024	2025	2030
Payout	49%	37%	39%	31%	30%	22%	16%	13%	13%	14%	14%	12%

SSD has established itself as an industry leader thanks to a few differentiating factors: Product availability with on-demand delivery in 24 to 48 hours. Comprehensive customer support for engineers, contractors, and building officials. Not to mention that SSD has substantial product testing means through its cutting-edge test lab. These variables provide customers with convenience and the utmost confidence in the company’s products. This has allowed SSD to consistently grow diluted EPS over the years.

The company’s financial health is also enviable. In the first half of 2025, it posted $2 million in interest income. Generating net interest income when many companies are burdened by outsized interest expenses is a testament to SSD’s overall financial positioning.

The company’s appeal doesn’t stop at its consistent EPS growth and robust balance sheet, either. In May, SSD also increased its quarterly dividend per share by 3.6% to $0.29. The company’s payout ratio is set to be in the low teens in 2025. This puts SSD in a position to build on its 13-year dividend growth streak for the foreseeable future.

Final Thoughts & Recommendation

SSD’s 0.6% dividend yield, 10.0% annual diluted EPS growth prospects, and 0.2% annual valuation multiple expansion potential could deliver 10.8% annual total returns through 2030. That’s why we’re reiterating our buy rating.
