Overview & Current Events

American Financial Group (AFG) is an insurance holding company that is engaged in property and casualty insurance, focusing on specialized commercial products for businesses. AFG's Specialty P&C Group is made up of over 35 businesses in three major groupings: Property and Transportation, Specialty Casualty, and Specialty Financial. In 2021, the company completed the sale of its annuity business for $3.8 billion in cash. In business for more than 150 years, AFG has regularly increased its regular quarterly dividend per share since 2006. As of June 30th, 2025, the company's investment portfolio was valued at approximately $16 billion.

On August 5th, AFG released its financial results for the second quarter ended June 30th, 2025. The company's total revenue edged 1.3% higher over the year-ago period to $1.92 billion in the quarter. AFG's net earned premiums growth (+3.9% to $1.65 billion) more than offset declines in net investment income and managed investment entities' investment income during the quarter. The company's core net operating EPS dropped by 16.4% year-over-year to $2.14 for the quarter. Reduced returns on alternative investments and lower underwriting profits weighed on the company's core net operating EPS in the quarter. However, this weaker result still managed to top the analyst consensus for the quarter by $0.04. AFG also returned meaningful capital to shareholders during the quarter, paying about $68 million in dividends, and repurchasing nearly 320,000 shares at an average cost of around $122 a share.

Growth on a Per-Share Basis

Year	2015	2016	2017	2018	2019	2020	2021	2022	2023	2024	2025	2030
EPS	$5.44	$6.03	$6.20	$8.40	$8.62	$8.44	$11.59	$11.63	$10.56	$10.75	$9.50	$14.62
DPS	$1.03	$1.15	$1.29	$1.45	$1.65	$1.85	$2.06	$2.31	$2.60	$2.93	$3.20	$5.15
Shares²	87.5	86.9	88.3	89.3	90.3	86.4	84.9	85.2	83.6	84.0	83.4	80.9

Over the past decade, AFG's core net operating EPS have compounded by nearly 8% annually. Moving forward, we believe that growth can accelerate slightly through 2030 to 9%, off an anticipated base of $9.50 for 2025. This would take the anticipated core net operating EPS base to $14.62 by 2030. Our assumptions continue to account for the specialty insurance business having ample growth opportunities ahead. That's because risks are constantly changing, and many businesses view tailored insurance solutions as the answer to addressing these risks. Over this time, we believe that AFG's share count will also modestly decrease. This is because the company generates the cash flow to fund consistent share repurchases. That's why we believe the share count will decline from the current mark of 83.4 million to 80.9 million by 2030.

Valuation Analysis

Year	2015	2016	2017	2018	2019	2020	2021	2022	2023	2024	2025	2030
Avg. P/E	13.3	14.6	17.5	10.8	12.7	10.4	11.9	11.8	11.3	12.6	13.4	12.5
Avg. Yld.	1.4%	1.3%	1.2%	1.6%	1.5%	2.1%	1.5%	1.7%	2.2%	2.2%	2.5%	2.8%

Since 2015, shares of AFG have been valued at a P/E ratio as low as the low double-digits to as high as the upper teens. Overall, the average P/E ratio in that period was nearly 13. In the years to come, we still think that a valuation multiple of 12.5x would represent fair value for AFG. That is backed up by the growth profile, which appears to be intact. Relative to the current P/E ratio of 13.4, AFG's shares look to be fully valued.

Safety, Quality, Competitive Advantage, & Recession Resiliency

Year	2015	2016	2017	2018	2019	2020	2021	2022	2023	2024	2025	2030
Payout	19%	19%	21%	17%	19%	22%	18%	20%	25%	27%	34%	35%

AFG has a couple of elements that could be considered competitive advantages. For one, the company has been in business for more than a century and a half. This reputation alone is enough to attract many new customers. AFG's specialized insurance product offerings also draw in new customers and allow the company to keep them. The necessity of the company's products has allowed it to report overall renewal rate increases for 36 consecutive quarters. That is how AFG has grown its core net operating EPS at a decent clip over the years.

AFG is also a financially healthy business. The company enjoys a BBB+ credit rating from S&P with a stable outlook. AFG's dividend is also well-covered, with the payout ratio set to be in the low to mid-30% range for 2025. We think this gives it room to grow the dividend at a faster rate than core net operating EPS growth for the foreseeable future. That's why we believe AFG can deliver 10% annual growth in its regular quarterly dividend per share through 2030. This also provides the company with opportunities to continue distributing special dividends as it deems appropriate.

Final Thoughts & Recommendation

AFG's 2.5% dividend yield, 9.0% annual core net operating EPS growth prospects, and 1.4% annual valuation multiple contraction potential could lead to 9.9% annual total returns over the medium term. The recent rally in shares has taken the valuation multiple a bit beyond our fair value estimate. As a result, we're downgrading the stock to a hold rating.
