Overview & Current Events

Cabot Corp (CBT) manufactures and sells a variety of chemicals, materials, and chemical-based products. The company organizes itself into two segments based on the product type. The reinforcement materials segment, which generates more revenue than any other segment, sells rubber-grade carbon black products used in hoses and belts in automobiles. The performance chemicals segment sells ink-jet colorants and metal oxides used in the automotive and construction industries.

On August 4th, 2025, the company announced results for the third quarter of 2025. Cabot reported Q3 non-GAAP EPS of $1.90, which beat estimates by $0.07 and revenue of $923 million down 9.5% year-over-year.

Reinforcement Materials EBIT fell 6% to $128 million, pressured by lower volumes in Asia Pacific (-11%) and the Americas (-9%), partially offset by 4% growth in EMEA. Performance Chemicals EBIT rose 4% to $57 million, benefiting from higher gross profit per ton from cost savings and optimization, despite an 8% decline in volumes. Net income was $101 million, or $1.86 per share, with strong operating cash flow of $249 million. Cabot returned $64 million to shareholders through $24 million in dividends and $40 million in share repurchases, ending the quarter with $239 million in cash and $1.4 billion in liquidity.

CEO Sean Keohane reaffirmed full-year adjusted EPS guidance of $7.15 to $7.50, expecting results toward the middle to lower end of the range unless tariff-related demand improves in Q4. While global macro weakness and tariff uncertainty continue to weigh on volumes, Cabot remains focused on cost discipline, network optimization, and strategic investments. The company's solid balance sheet and 1.3x net debt-to-EBITDA ratio provide flexibility to fund growth initiatives while sustaining shareholder returns.

Cabot's growth was propelled by strategic enhancements in its product offerings and geographical expansion. The Reinforcement Materials segment benefited from favorable customer agreements and increased demand in key regions, particularly Asia and Europe, which saw volume increases of 21% and 4%, respectively. Despite an 8% volume decline in the Americas, the segment's overall performance remained strong due to higher pricing and an improved product mix. The Performance Chemicals segment's growth was driven by increased volumes in specialty carbons and specialty compounds.

We have set our EPS estimate for 2025 in-line with the management's estimates. Thus, we expect the company to post EPS of $7.30 in 2025. Additionally, we estimate an EPS growth of 8.0% over the next five years, leading to our estimated EPS of $10.73 by 2030. Moreover, the company has a solid record of paying dividends and has paid an increasing dividend for the past 12 years. We expect the company to maintain its dividend growth and have forecasted a dividend CAGR of 5.0%, leading to a dividend of $2.30 in 2030.

Valuation Analysis

Year	2015	2016	2017	2018	2019	2020	2021	2022	2023	2024	Now	2030
Avg. P/E	-7.5	20.8	14.6	-31.4	17.0	-8.8	12.3	19.0	9.5	13.1	10.4	15.0

The company currently trades at a forward P/E of 10.4, but we believe a target P/E of 15.0, which is closer to the sector's median, is a fair reflection of its value. Thus, with the forecasted EPS of $10.72 by 2030 and a 15.0 multiple, our target stock price is $161.

Safety, Quality, Competitive Advantage, & Recession Resiliency

Year	2015	2016	2017	2018	2019	2020	2021	2022	2023	2024	2025	2030
Payout	-17%	45%	31%	-70%	52%	-33%	32%	41%	20%	24%	25%	21%

Cabot Corporation's competitive advantage lies in its advanced material solutions and strong customer relationships, driving sustained growth. Its robust performance during economic downturns showcases resilience, supported by diversified product lines and geographic presence. In Q2 2025, Cabot Corporation reinforced shareholder value this quarter by repurchasing $47 million worth of its own shares, underscoring its commitment to returning capital even in a choppy market. In Q3, Cabot repurchased $40 million of its common stock as part of its ongoing capital return strategy.

Final Thoughts & Recommendation

Cabot Corporation demonstrates strong financial health, strategic growth, and resilience, making it a solid investment. With robust EPS growth, prudent debt management, and shareholder-friendly policies, CBT is well-positioned for continued success. Shares are projected to return 17.6% annually over the medium-term, derived from the forecasted earnings-per-share growth of 8.0%, the 2.4% dividend yield, and a valuation tailwind. However, the moderate dividend risk score earns Cabot Corporation a hold recommendation at this time.
