Overview & Current Events

Lincoln National Corporation offers life insurance, annuities, retirement plan services and group protection. The corporation was founded in 1905 as The Lincoln National Life Insurance Company. Permission from Abraham Lincoln's son to use the former president's name was granted. In 1912, the company entered the reinsurance business. In 1969, Lincoln National Corp began trading on the New York Stock Exchange and the Midwest Stock Exchange. Today it trades under the ticker LNC, and has a market capitalization of $7.3 billion.

In November 2023, Lincoln National ceded $28 billion of in-force ULSG, MoneyGuard and fixed annuity statutory reserves to Fortitude Re. This reduced Lincoln's balance sheet risk, improved its risk-based capital ratio, and is expected to increase annual free cash flow by more than $100 million. The deal closed in Q4 2023.

On May 6, 2024, Lincoln completed the sale of its wealth management business to Osaic, Inc. Lincoln received $725 million cash. It used the cash to increase The Lincoln National Life Insurance Company's Risk-Based Capital (RBC) ratio, and deleverage.

On June 5, 2025, Bain Capital closed its deal to acquire a 9.9% stake in Lincoln Financial for $825 million. The strategic partnership between the two has Bain Capital become a strategic asset manager partner for certain asset classes, such as private credit, structured assets, mortgage loans, and private equity.

Lincoln National reported second quarter 2025 results on July 31st, 2025, for the period ending June 30th, 2025. The company generated net income of $3.80 per share in the quarter, which compared unfavorably to net income of $5.11 in the second quarter of 2024. Adjusted income from operations equaled $2.36 per share compared to $1.87 in the same prior year period. Additionally, annuities average account balances rose by 1% to $160 billion and group protection insurance premiums grew 7% to $1.4 billion.

Adjusted book value per share rose 6% compared to the prior year from $68.51 to $72.77.

The COVID-19 pandemic crushed Lincoln National's 2020 results, but it recuperated strongly in 2021 before plummeting in 2022. For 2023 and 2024, results normalized, and the company got back on track, but results were still below its highs. As a result, LNC has an adjusted operating income per share (AOIPS) CAGR of 2.9% and 1.1% in the last nine and five years, respectively. We expect 8% growth of AOIPS in 2025, and 7% annual growth thereafter through 2030.

The dividend had grown since the great financial crisis until it was frozen at $1.80 per share in 2022. The corporation's 2020 dividend of $1.60 was the first year the dividend returned to this level since 2007. The share count has been reduced meaningfully over the last decade. And continued strong share repurchase would be a tailwind to per share earnings.

Following Lincoln's Fortitude Reinsurance and Osaic deals, the company has laid out the long term outlook for its target operating income earnings mix. It is targeting for Annuities to account for 45% to 55% of its earnings mix, group to account for 25% to 35%, retirement to be 5% to 15%, and life to make up 10% to 15%. This means Lincoln will be reducing its exposure to annuities, increasing its exposure to group and life, while retirement will remain in its current range.

Valuation Analysis

Year	2015	2016	2017	2018	2019	2020	2021	2022	2023	2024	Now	2030
Avg. P/AOIPS	10.1	7.1	9.2	8.0	9.0	9.1	8.0	-	4.8	4.3	5.0	6.0
Avg. Yld.	1.5%	2.2%	1.7%	1.9%	2.4%	4.0%	2.5%	3.4%	7.2%	5.9%	4.7%	3.6%

Lincoln National trade at just 5.0 times this year's adjusted net income expectations of $7.61 per share. The average price-to-adjusted operating income per share for Lincoln has been 7.7X and 6.6X for the trailing ten and five years. We believe shares are still undervalued here and that it could be trading at a 6.0 P/AOIPS ratio in 2030, which implies the potential for a valuation tailwind.

Safety, Quality, Competitive Advantage, & Recession Resiliency

Year	2015	2016	2017	2018	2019	2020	2021	2022	2023	2024	2025	2030
Payout	15%	15%	15%	16%	22%	36%	20%	-	34%	25%	24%	22%

Lincoln's earnings fell significantly during the great financial crisis, falling about 40% from peak to trough. As a result, the dividend was cut to near nothing. It took about five years for earnings to return to their prior highs, and as mentioned, the dividend only recently eclipsed its previous record. Additionally, LNC was hit hard by the COVID-19 pandemic due to mortality impacts. Today the dividend appears to be in safe territory with an expected payout ratio of 24% for 2025, but LNC is not recession resistant and could face headwinds from a slowing economy. The company lists its automated underwriting within a defined criterion, and its LincXpress product, a simplified issue process, as marketplace competitive advantages.

Final Thoughts & Recommendation

The share price of LNC stock has increased by 33% in the trailing one-year period, outperforming the S&P 500 Index. The stock could still offer annualized total returns of 14.3% in the intermediate term, and the stock is trading at 84% of our estimate of fair value. However, due to the lack of dividend growth since 2022, Lincoln earns a sell rating. Furthermore, Lincoln operates in the highly volatile insurance business, thus it appears to be a high-risk, high-reward stock.
