Overview & Current Events

Founded in 1993, RioCan Real Estate Investment Trust owns, manages, and develops retail-focused, mixed-use properties located in prime, high-density transit-oriented areas where Canadians shop, live, and work. RIOCF was one of the first REITs in Canada. A year after its founding, RIOCF held its initial public offering on the Toronto Stock Exchange.

As of June 30th, 2025, the company wholly owned or co-owned stakes in 178 properties spanning an aggregate net leasable area of approximately 32 million square feet. Additionally, the company has a pipeline of approximately 21 million square feet zoned for future development.

As alluded to earlier, RIOCF's annualized contractual gross rent is mostly derived from retail properties (83.7%). Office properties chip in another 11.2%, and residential rental properties contribute the remaining 5.1% to RIOCF's annualized rent. The company's strategy is to focus primarily on necessity-based retail. These include grocery stores and pharmacies (20.2% of annualized rent) and are buoyed by exceptionally strong tenants like Walmart and Costco. Essential goods and services made up 24.1% of annualized rent and included tenants like the Bank of Montreal, TD Bank, and Royal Bank of Canada. Value retailers contributed 13.0% of annualized rent and include Dollarama, as well as TJX Companies' HomeSense and Winners brands. RIOCF's 97.5% committed occupancy (98.2% for retail) is a testament to the effectiveness of its approach.

On August 7th, RIOCF shared its financial results for the second quarter ended June 30th, 2025. The company's revenue rose by 28.9% year-over-year to $290.8 million during the quarter (adjusting for average CAD to USD conversion rates in Q2 2024 and Q2 2025). Due to unfavorable foreign currency translation, this trailed the native currency growth rate of 31.1% in the quarter. RIOCF's AFFO per unit grew by 7.4% over the year-ago period to $0.34 for the quarter (versus 9.3% in constant currency).

Growth on a Per-Share Basis

Year	2015	2016	2017	2018	2019	2020	2021	2022	2023	2024	2025	2030
AFFOPS	$1.13	$1.14	$1.28	$1.23	$1.26	$1.10	$1.09	$1.10	$1.15	$1.06	$1.15	$1.15
DPS	$1.10	$1.06	$1.09	$1.11	$1.09	$1.07	$0.77	$0.78	$0.80	$0.81	$0.84	$0.84

RIOCF's AFFO per unit grew slightly in CAD terms from 1.57 in 2015 to 1.81 in 2024. However, the devaluation of the CAD to the USD over that time resulted in a slight decrease in AFFO per unit in USD terms. Moving forward, we expect the CAD to lose a bit more ground to the USD. However, we think that this can be offset by RIOCF's decent fundamentals. The company's committed occupancy rate remains healthy. Blended leasing spreads of 20.6% in Q2 2025 also show RIOCF to be fundamentally strong. That's why we believe that the company's AFFO per unit will hold steady in USD from the anticipated 2025 base of $1.15 over the next five years.

Valuation Analysis

Year	2015	2016	2017	2018	2019	2020	2021	2022	2023	2024	2025	2030
P/AFFO	15.3	17.5	15.3	14.2	16.3	12.0	16.6	14.2	12.2	12.0	11.3	13.0
Avg. Yld.	6.4%	5.3%	5.6%	6.4%	5.3%	8.1%	4.2%	5.0%	5.7%	6.4%	6.5%	5.6%

Over the past decade, RIOCF's P/AFFO ratio has varied from as low as the low double-digits to as high as the upper teens. This resulted in an average P/AFFO ratio of 14.6 over that time. We expect 10-year U.S. Treasury yields to eventually settle about 100 basis points higher than the 10-year average of 2.5%. On one hand, that's why we don't foresee a return to a multiple of 14.6 as an appropriate fair value. On the other hand, the current multiple of 11.3 also seems low. Thus, we're just about splitting the difference between the current P/AFFO ratio and the average of 14.6. This gives us a fair value P/AFFO ratio of approximately 13.

Safety, Quality, Competitive Advantage, & Recession Resiliency

Year	2015	2016	2017	2018	2019	2020	2021	2022	2023	2024	2025	2030
Payout	97%	93%	85%	90%	87%	97%	71%	71%	70%	76%	73%	73%

In real estate, it's all about location, location, location. RIOCF's concentration of 94% of its ABR being derived from major urban centers in Canada differentiates it from the peer group average of just 68%. This is because such locations come with strong and consistent consumer demand. That can help tenants to more easily thrive in just about any operating environment, which is what ultimately keeps the rent checks coming to RIOCF.

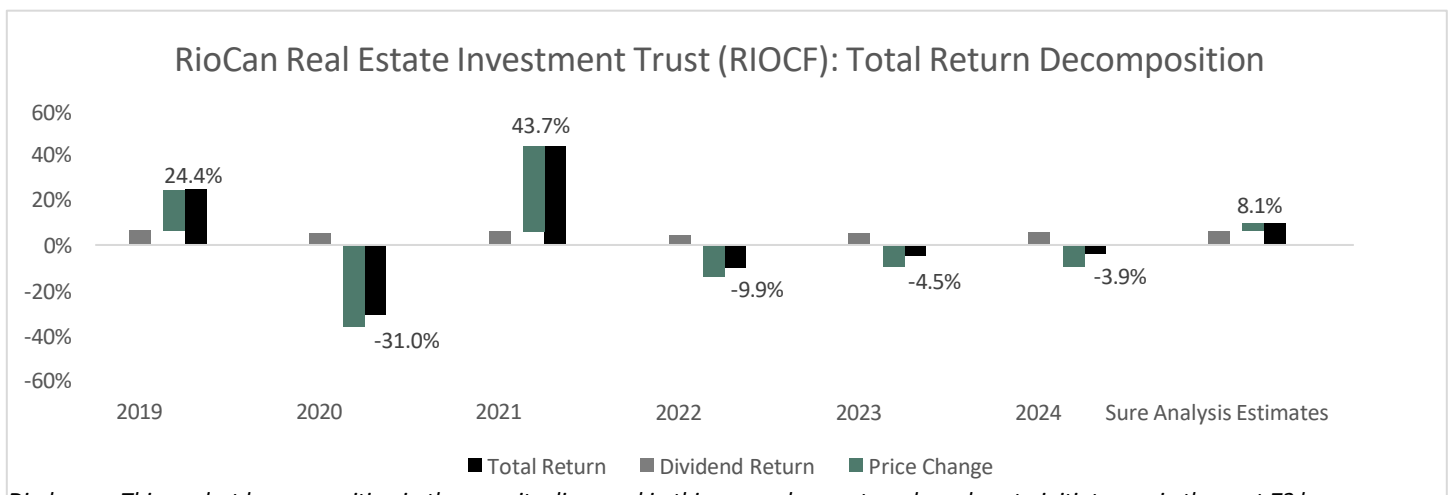

Financially, RIOCF is reasonably healthy. The company's adjusted debt to adjusted EBITDA ratio improved sequentially from 8.96x in Q1 2025 to 8.88x in Q2 2025, within its targeted range of 8.0x to 9.0x. RIOCF expects this to improve further to the mid-8x range in 2025. That's why it enjoys an investment-grade, BBB credit rating from the Canadian credit rating agency, DBRS.

RIOCF's AFFO payout ratio is set to be in the low 70% range for 2025, which is a very manageable payout ratio. That leaves it with excess free cash flow to reinvest in its business each year. This should give RIOCF room to gradually grow its distribution in native currency, although we think further deterioration in the CAD to USD exchange rate will likely offset this growth.

Final Thoughts & Recommendation

RIOCF's 6.5% yield, flat AFFO per unit, and 2.8% annual valuation multiple expansion potential could lead to 8.1% annual total returns over the next five years. As a result, we're maintaining our hold rating.
