Overview & Current Events

The Public Service Enterprise Group (PEG) is a publicly-traded diversified energy company headquartered in Newark, New Jersey, established in 1985. However, The company has a history that dates back to 1903, when it was initially called Public Service Corporation. PEG's principal operating subsidiaries are Public Service Electric and Gas Co. (PSE&G), PSEG Power, and PSEG Long Island. The company is one of the ten largest electric companies in the U.S. PSE&G provides electric and natural gas services and services to 2.3 million electric customers and 1.9 million gas customers. PSE&G accounted for over 66% of PEG revenues in 2024. PEG has approximately 13,000 employees and a market cap of $39.9 billion. The company has been growing dividends for fourteen consecutive years, and PEG has been paying the same or higher dividends for 21 years in a row.

On August 5th, 2025, the company reported second quarter results for Fiscal Year (FY)2025. The company reported strong second-quarter 2025 results, with net income rising to $585 million, or $1.17 per share, compared with $434 million, or $0.87 per share, in the prior-year period. Non-GAAP operating earnings were $384 million, or $0.77 per share, up from $313 million, or $0.63 per share, last year, exceeding consensus estimates by $0.07. Revenue grew 15.8% year-over-year to $2.81 billion, surpassing expectations by $323 million. For the first half of 2025, net income increased to $1.17 billion, or $2.35 per share, while operating earnings reached $1.10 billion, or $2.20 per share, versus $970 million, or $1.94 per share, in the same period of 2024. Management reaffirmed full-year 2025 non-GAAP operating earnings guidance of $3.94 to $4.06 per share, representing approximately 9% growth at the midpoint compared to 2024. CEO Ralph LaRossa highlighted the company's regulated investment program of $3.8 billion for 2025, which supports PSEG's 5% to 7% compound annual earnings growth outlook through 2029. He also emphasized operational resilience during a record summer peak load of 10,229 MW amid a heat wave, as well as storm restoration efforts that validated the company's infrastructure investments. Additionally, PSEG is extending fuel cycles at its Hope Creek nuclear facility and pursuing opportunities to expand nuclear output under long-term contracts, reinforcing its position as a leading provider of carbon-free power. Strategically, PSEG continues to balance growth with customer affordability and reliability. The company is partnering with New Jersey regulators on programs such as the Summer Relief Initiative, which defers billing during peak usage months without interest, and expanded protections for income-qualified customers. Looking ahead, PSEG is encouraged by recent PJM capacity auction results, which cleared 3,500 MW of nuclear capacity at higher prices, and by supportive federal tax legislation preserving nuclear production tax credits and bonus depreciation. These developments, coupled with rising demand from large load inquiries—particularly from data centers—position PSEG to sustain long-term regulated growth.

Updated September 10th, 2025 by Felix Martinez

The company does not have strong growth prospects as it is a utility company and heavily regulated by the government. However, we estimate a 6% annual earnings growth rate for the next five years. This is higher than the 3.2% growth rate that the company has experienced for the past 5-year average. It is also higher than the 2.6% earnings growth over the past decade. The dividend has been growing slightly better than earnings. The dividend has had a CAGR of 5.2% for the past five years. We see this slowing down, and we estimate a dividend growth rate of 4% going forward. The net margin has increased from 14.8% in FY2018 to 16.8% in FY2019. In FY2024, PEG had a net margin of 17.2%.

Valuation Analysis

Year	2015	2016	2017	2018	2019	2020	2021	2022	2023	2024	2025	2030
Avg. P/E	13.3	15.1	17.6	16.7	17.9	17.0	18.3	17.7	17.6	22.9	19.8	15.0
Avg. Yld.	4.0%	3.7%	3.3%	3.5%	3.2%	3.4%	3.1%	3.5%	3.7%	2.8%	3.2%	3.8%

The company looks to be overvalued at today's price. Because of the slow growth prospects, we think that a fair PE is 15.0x earnings. This is lower than the company's 10-year average PE of 17.4x. Thus, we see an annual headwind due to multiple contractions. The current dividend yield of 3.2% is lower than its 5-year average of 3.4% and not as attractive as other utility companies with a higher dividend yield.

Safety, Quality, Competitive Advantage, & Recession Resiliency

Year	2015	2016	2017	2018	2019	2020	2021	2022	2023	2024	2025	2030
Payout	54%	57%	59%	58%	57%	57%	56%	62%	66%	65%	63%	57%

PEG's competitive advantage is its state-regulated business, which requires excessive capital expenses for infrastructure and poses high entry barriers to potential competitors. During the Great Recession of 2008-2009, The Company grew earnings from $2.71 in 2007 to $2.92 in 2008 and $3.12 in 2009. The dividend was well covered, and the company increased its dividend by 10.3% in 2008. This shows the dividend safety and the resilience of this company. However, in 2011, the company froze its dividend, losing its dividend increase streak, but it has grown since then. The company has a stable balance sheet with a debt-to-equity ratio of 1.3. Interest coverage ratio of 3.3x. However, the company does have more debt than assets, as the current ratio is 0.8. PEG's dividend payout ratio has been in the uptrend but is still safe for the foreseeable future.

Final Thoughts & Recommendation

The company is safe to invest in, as most utility companies are. However, at the current price, PEG is overvalued relative to our fair price estimate of $60. There are not many growth prospects available to the company currently. Thus, we see a 5-year projected annual return of 3.6%. Most of this return will come from the 3.2% dividend yield. We rate PEG as a hold at the current price.
