Overview & Current Events

TD SYNEX Corporation is a technology distributor with a hand in a wide range of technological products, including servers and storage, software, networking, PCs, peripherals, mobile, services, and more. It serves customers in five continents, and over 100 countries. The company has more than 200,000 products and solutions, which it sells to over 2,500 OEMs and vendor partners, constituting more than 150,000 customers. TD SYNEX was founded in 1980, is headquartered in Fremont, California, and has a market capitalization of $13 billion. On September 1st, 2021, SYNEX Corporation merged with Tech Data Corporation, becoming TD SYNEX. On December 1st, 2020, SYNEX spun off Concentrix Corporation (CNXC) to shareholders, who were each entitled to one share of CNXC for every share of SNX. In the latest quarterly report, TD SYNEX earned 59% of its revenue from the Americas, 33% from Europe, and 8% from Asia-Pacific and Japan.

On September 25th, 2025, TD SYNEX reported third quarter 2025 results for the period ending August 31st, 2025. For the quarter, the company generated revenue of $15.7 billion, which was 6.6% higher year-over-year. Adjusted net income equaled $296 million or $3.58 per share; a 25% increase compared to Q3 2024.

TD SYNEX repurchased $174 million of its common stock in the quarter, and paid $36 million of dividends.

Leadership initiated its fourth quarter 2025 outlook, expecting revenue to be $16.5 billion to $17.3 billion and adjusted EPS of $3.45 to $3.95. Investors were impressed with the quarterly report and shares soared 9% on the news.

Growth on a Per-Share Basis

Year	2015	2016	2017	2018	2019	2020	2021	2022	2023	2024	2025	2030
EPS	$5.88	$7.51	$7.19	$10.87	$7.45	$7.38	$9.40	$11.94	$11.26	$11.68	$13.01	$21.92
DPS	$0.58	$0.85	$1.05	$1.40	$1.50	$0.40	$0.80	$1.20	$1.40	$1.60	$1.76	$2.83
Shares¹	39.1	39.3	39.6	41.2	50.7	50.9	62.2	95.2	92.6	90.4	80.7	75.0

TD SYNEX has grown at a fairly stable rate over the last decade, even through spinoffs and mergers, with a 5- and 9-year EPS CAGR of 7.9% and 9.4%, respectively. The spinoff of Concentrix in 2019 explains the drop in EPS for the year. And the merger with Tech Data in 2021 essentially rebased EPS and DPS, and set a new base from which to grow.

From its current base, TD SYNEX expects to expand its strategic technologies business, such as Cloud, Data, AI, Internet of Things, Security and Hyperscale Infrastructure. These technologies accounted for 17% of adjusted gross billings in FY 2021, but grew to 25% for FY 2024, as they become more and more important to the composition and growth of the business.

SYNEX is targeting shareholder returns of 15% to 20% in the medium term. It expects to increase its dividend at the same rate as EPS. It also has approximately $1.3 billion remaining on its current share repurchase authorization. In 2024 and 2023, SYNEX repurchased $612 million and $621 million of its common stock, respectively. Even so, its share count has risen over the long term.

Valuation Analysis

Year	2015	2016	2017	2018	2019	2020	2021	2022	2023	2024	Now	2030
Avg. P/E	8.8	9.3	10.1	6.8	7.1	8.9	12.7	12.6	11.3	13.6	12.6	11.8
Avg. Yld.	1.0%	1.5%	1.6%	2.6%	2.9%	2.6%	0.5%	1.1%	1.4%	1.3%	1.1%	1.1%

TD SYNEX has traded at a very fair multiple over the last decade, at just 10.1 times earnings. Over the last five years, and following its merger with Tech Data, the company has traded at an average P/E ratio of 11.8. SYNEX currently trades at 12.6 times forecast EPS for 2025, while we peg fair value at its 5-year average, implying a valuation headwind. Following the pandemic, and since its merger with Tech Data, TD SYNEX has increased its dividend every year, for a 5-year dividend increase streak. Furthermore, from the 2020 low, its dividend has increased by a 35% CAGR. The yield is likely to remain in line with the broader market, at just above 1%.

Safety, Quality, Competitive Advantage, & Recession Resiliency

Year	2015	2016	2017	2018	2019	2020	2021	2022	2023	2024	2025	2030
Payout	10%	11%	15%	13%	20%	5%	9%	10%	12%	14%	14%	13%

TD SYNEX benefits from its massive product portfolio, comprised of over 200,000 products and solutions, as well as its global employee and customer base. Furthermore, its products fall into a wide range of categories, softening the impact if any one of its product groups endure a downturn.

Given that TD SYNEX is a multinational corporation with exposure to the US, Europe, and Asia, one of the business's current risks is the impact of tariffs on computer parts and accessories.

As of the most recent quarter, TD SYNEX possessed over $5.6 billion available liquidity, and total debt and net debt leverage ratios were 2.3X and 1.8X, respectively.

Final Thoughts & Recommendation

TD SYNEX shares have soared 39% year-to-date, outperforming the 14% gain of the S&P 500 Index. The company does not have the earnings growth history of more flashy tech companies, nor the valuation, but it has produced a very consistent, strong, and reliable record that investors can respect. We are forecasting 10.6% total return potential stemming from 11.0% earnings-per-share growth and the 1.1% dividend yield. TD SYNEX maintains its hold rating.
