Overview & Current Events

BancFirst Corp. (BANF) serves as the financial holding company for BancFirst, a state-chartered bank headquartered in Oklahoma City, Oklahoma. The company was founded in 1984, and the subsequent year merged with seven other bank holding companies based in Oklahoma. The company acquired other banks and bank holding companies for the next several years. BancFirst has 104 banking locations serving 59 communities throughout Oklahoma and has over 1,900 employees. BancFirst offers retail customers and small and mid-sized businesses various commercial banking services. This includes checking, savings, CDs, personal loans, and other services for retail customers. The bank offers business lending services for commercial customers, including agricultural and multi-family loans and various business banking services. The company has a $3.7 billion market capitalization.

On October 17th, 2025, BancFirst Corporation reported third-quarter results for Fiscal Year (FY)2025. reported a solid third quarter, generating net income of $62.7 million or $1.85 per diluted share, slightly below EPS expectations but up from the prior year. Revenue reached $175.5 million, rising 7% year-over-year, driven by continued loan growth and increased earning assets. Net interest income climbed to $125.6 million, with the net interest margin holding steady at 3.79%, reflecting disciplined balance sheet management. Noninterest income grew modestly to $49.9 million, supported by higher trust, treasury, and fee-based revenue streams.

Operating expenses increased to $92.1 million, mainly due to higher salaries, employee benefits, and occupancy-related repairs. Despite the increase, the bank maintained an efficiency ratio of roughly 52%, demonstrating solid cost control relative to revenue growth. Asset quality remained strong, with nonaccrual loans representing just 0.69% of total loans and continued healthy allowance coverage. Balance sheet expansion continued, with total assets rising to $14.2 billion and deposits reaching $12.1 billion, supported by broad-based customer growth.

Management noted a mixed economic outlook, citing slowing regional economic activity and the Federal Reserve's recent rate cut as signs of caution. While loan growth and stable margins continue to support performance, the company expects a softer operating environment heading into 2026. As a result, BancFirst is maintaining a conservative credit stance and a healthy allowance for credit losses, positioning the bank to navigate potential economic cooling while continuing to generate steady earnings and manage capital effectively.

an average of 6.1% per year. With the current interest environment, we expect EPS to grow at around a rate of 4% for the next five years, which is in line with its long-term earnings growth.

Valuation Analysis

Year	2015	2016	2017	2018	2019	2020	2021	2022	2023	2024	2025	2030
Avg. P/E	14.1	21.8	19.4	14.8	15.4	19.6	14.0	15.3	15.4	18.2	15.5	15.00

BancFirst's P/E ratio has averaged 16.8x over the past ten years, with relatively little change from year to year. We feel that a multiple of 15.0x is fair for a company of this size with a low estimated growth rate and yield. Thus, the company looks overvalued based on the average PE with a current PE of 15.5x. The stock currently has a price-to-book (PB) ratio of 2.1, slightly lower to its five-year average of 2.2.

Safety, Quality, Competitive Advantage, & Recession Resiliency

Year	2015	2016	2017	2018	2019	2020	2021	2022	2023	2024	2025	2030
Payout	33%	33%	29%	27%	31%	44%	28%	26%	26%	28%	27%	27%

BancFirst is a well-managed bank that has raised its dividend for 30 consecutive years and emerged from the global financial crisis relatively unscathed. Although earnings fell approximately 35% from their peak in 2007 to their bottom in 2009 and then took five years to surpass the 2007 peak, this was very healthy compared to many other banks in the country. At no point did earnings fall enough to put the dividend payout ratio above 50%. Today, the bank has a highly diversified asset base with commercial loans, real estate loans, and debt securities, maintaining compliance with banking regulations and capital reserve ratios. Oklahoma's banking industry is diversified, and the company does not have a significant competitive advantage over regional or national banks. However, well-run banks generally enjoy high switching costs, as depositors are unlikely to go through the hassle of switching banks in most scenarios. BancFirst has considerably outperformed the S&P 500 and all of the "Big Four" national banks over the past 25 years in total shareholder returns, indicating an above-average company culture and management team. David Rainbolt was the CEO for virtually all of this extended outperformance, but two years ago moved on to become the executive chairman. At the same time, David Harlow, former BancFirst president, is now the CEO.

Final Thoughts & Recommendation

BancFirst is a small bank with a long stretch of consistent dividend growth, significant resilience through recessions, and history of considerably outperforming the broader banking industry and the stock market more generally. Interest rates and other factors outside their control may be a negative headwind as we advance. We expect a five-year annual rate of return of 4.9%. Thus, we rate BancFirst a hold at the current price because of the expected total return.
