Overview & Current Events

Nasdaq, Inc. operates as a technology company that serves capital markets and other industries worldwide. Nasdaq is primarily known for its equity exchange with 4,075 companies listed securities on The Nasdaq Stock Market, but in addition to its market-services business, the company sells and distributes market data as well as offers Nasdaq-branded indexes to asset managers and investors through its information-services segment. Nasdaq's corporate-services business offers listing services and related investor relations products to publicly traded companies. Non-trading revenues accounted for 78% of net revenues. Nasdaq is a $50 billion company and has about 7,800 employees.

On October 21st, 2025, Nasdaq reported its third quarter results for the period ending September 30th, 2025. For the quarter, the company reported net revenues of $1.315 billion, marking a 15% increase over the year-ago quarter. This revenue growth was bolstered by strong contributions from Financial Technology revenue of $457 million (+23% YoY) and Index revenue of $206 million (+13% YoY). Solutions revenue rose by 15% to $1.003 billion, driven by solid performance in the Index and Financial Technology sectors. Non-GAAP earnings per diluted share for the third quarter increased by 19%, from $0.74 to $0.88. Annualized Recurring Revenues (ARR), a key metric for Nasdaq's management, increased by 10% year-over-year to $3.007 billion, surpassing the $3 billion milestone for the first time, reflecting the continued success of its transformation toward a recurring-revenue and SaaS-based business model. Annualized SaaS revenues grew 12% and now represent 38% of ARR. Market Services net revenues increased by 14% to $303 million, reflecting resilience in U.S. equity derivatives and other trading revenues. The company also reported continued strong IPO activity, welcoming operating companies that raised $6 billion in proceeds in Q3, highlighting its position as the top U.S. exchange for IPOs. Non-GAAP operating expenses increased to $583 million (+5% YoY), driven by ongoing investments in technology and people, partially offset by synergy benefits. The company reached an all-time high Index AUM of $829 billion in Q3 2025 and strengthened its balance sheet by repurchasing $69 million in debt, achieving its gross leverage milestone ahead of schedule.

Nasdaq's management has outlined a mid-term strategy aimed at driving growth across its core business segments. Key metrics for success include organic revenue growth for the Total Solutions segment between 8% and 11% per year over the next 3 to 5 years. Within the Financial Technology segment, AxiomSL and Calypso are expected to achieve revenue growth of 13% to 17%, with Annualized Recurring Revenue (ARR) growth in the same range. Additionally, Capital Access Platforms is projected to grow by 5% to 8% annually, with contributions in regulatory and capital markets technology (7% to 13% growth), and in financial crime management technology (20% to 25% growth).

Nasdaq, Inc. (NDAQ)

Updated November 2nd, 2025, by Sure Dividend Analyst

Nasdaq has grown earnings by 10.7% per year since 2015 and 10.2% over the past five years. We expect earnings to increase by 10% per year for the next five years.

The company has been able to increase its yearly dividend payout for 13 consecutive years. Over the last five years, the average annual dividend growth rate is above 10%. This is taking into account the 3-for-1 stock split that occurred on August 29th, 2022. In April 2025, the company increased its quarterly dividend by 12.5% from $0.24 to $0.27 per share. In the third quarter, the company repurchased $115 million of common stock.

Valuation Analysis

Year	2015	2016	2017	2018	2019	2020	2021	2022	2023	2024	Now	2030
Avg. P/E	15.3	17.8	17.8	18.0	19.0	19.2	23.2	21.1	20.0	27.1	25.5	22.0
Avg. Yld.	1.9%	1.9%	2.0%	1.9%	1.9%	1.6%	1.2%	1.4%	1.4%	1.3%	1.3%	1.3%

During the past decade shares of Nasdaq have traded with an average price-to-earnings ratio of 19.9 times earnings and today, it stands at 25.5. We are using 22 times earnings as a fair value baseline, implying the potential for a valuation headwind. The company's dividend yield is currently 1.3%, which is below the average yield of 1.6% for the past decade.

Safety, Quality, Competitive Advantage, & Recession Resiliency

Year	2015	2016	2017	2018	2019	2020	2021	2022	2023	2024	2025	2030
Payout	27%	33%	36%	35%	37%	32%	28%	29%	31%	34%	32%	28%

During the past five years, the company's dividend payout ratio has averaged around 31%. Nasdaq's dividend is comfortably covered by earnings. Given the expected earnings growth, there is room for the dividend to continue to grow at least at the same pace and keep the payout ratio around the same levels which we believe to be safe.

Nasdaq is a global technology company providing data, analytics, software, and services, including the popular Nasdaq Stock Market. To maintain its leading position, Nasdaq is executing on its 2025 strategic priorities — Integrate, Innovate, Accelerate — and continues to invest in AI-driven innovation and platform modernization across its businesses. These efforts are aimed at enhancing client engagement and expanding capabilities across regulatory, trading, and financial crime management technologies. The company and its management are demonstrating strong execution, backed by robust cash flows and a healthy balance sheet, providing ample flexibility to fund these strategic investments and drive sustainable, long-term growth.

Final Thoughts & Recommendation

Nasdaq is a technology stock in the financial services sector with a strong earnings-per-share track record and a modest dividend yield. We estimate total return potential of 8.0% per year for the next five years based on an 10% earnings-per-share growth, a 1.3% dividend yield, and a valuation headwind. The shares earn a hold rating.
