Overview & Current Events

From its somewhat inauspicious beginnings as a Washington, D.C. root-beer stand in 1927, Marriott has become an international hospitality juggernaut with over 7,000 properties operating under 30 brands in more than 130 countries and territories. It's the largest hotel chain in the world. As we know today, Marriott Intl was created in 1993 when the former Marriott Corp was split into two publicly traded companies, Marriott Intl. and Host Marriott Corp. (HST) (now known as Host Hotels & Resorts). Marriott Intl. manages and franchises a portfolio of hospital brands that range from the classic splendor of The Ritz-Carlton to the Fairfield Inns you find along the highway. Internationally, Marriott's Starwood subsidiary gives the Company a significant foothold in Europe and elsewhere. Marriott currently boasts a market cap north of $82.3 billion.

On November 4th, 2025, the company reported its third quarter for Fiscal Year (FY)2025 earning results. The company reported solid third-quarter 2025 results, with adjusted earnings per share of $2.47, beating expectations by $0.08, and revenue of $6.49 billion, up 3.7% year over year. Reported net income rose 25% to $728 million, while adjusted EBITDA increased 10% to $1.35 billion. Global RevPAR grew 0.5%, driven by a 2.6% increase internationally—led by strong performance in Asia-Pacific—while U.S. and Canada RevPAR declined 0.4% due to weaker demand in lower-price segments and reduced government travel.

Marriott continued to expand aggressively, adding nearly 17,900 net rooms in the quarter and achieving 4.7% year-over-year system growth. Its global development pipeline reached a record 3,923 properties and over 596,000 rooms, with more than half located in international markets. The Marriott Bonvoy loyalty program also remained a major growth driver, adding 12 million members during the quarter and reaching nearly 260 million total members, with strong engagement across both domestic and global customers.

Financially, Marriott returned $3.1 billion to shareholders year-to-date through dividends and share repurchases, including $800 million in buybacks during the quarter. The company reaffirmed its outlook for full-year 2025, projecting worldwide RevPAR growth of 1.5% to 2.5%, net rooms growth approaching 5%, and adjusted EPS of $9.98 to $10.06. Management remains confident in long-term growth supported by brand strength, global expansion, and its asset-light business model, despite ongoing macroeconomic uncertainty.

Southeast Asia. However, there's no denying that, despite growth prospects, there's plenty of challenge in the industry. The company recently announced a dividend increase of 6.3% from $0.63 per share to $0.67 per share on May 9, 2025.

Valuation Analysis

Year	2015	2016	2017	2018	2019	2020	2021	2022	2023	2024	2025	2030
Avg. P/E	24	26.3	19.6	24	24	27	52.7	22.3	22.6	29.9	30.5	18.00
Avg. Yld.	1.3%	1.7%	1.3%	1.2%	1.2%	0.4%	0.0%	0.7%	0.9%	0.9%	0.9%	1.2%

Looking at Marriott's performance during the last ten years, we notice the P/E has tended to remain solidly in the 21-25 range. However, we'll assign an expected P/E of 18, given the hospitality industry's continuing challenges. When it comes to dividend payouts, Marriott has a history of playing it slow but steady. However, the company did have to cut its dividend during the COVID-19 pandemic. It has since reinstated the dividend, and it is now higher than what it was before COVID-19.

Safety, Quality, Competitive Advantage, & Recession Resiliency

Year	2015	2016	2017	2018	2019	2020	2021	2022	2023	2024	2025	2030
Payout	30%	31%	30%	25%	31%	267%	0%	15%	20%	26%	27%	21%

Although Marriott Intl. trades in excitement – luxury getaways, exotic destinations, and even room amenities that might trick you out of believing you're on business travel – the Company's stock performance has been anything but thrilling. The company's best advantage is its sheer size. At this point, if you're staying at a chain hotel anywhere in the world, there's a decent chance Marriott owns the brand.

During the first decade of the 21st century – which saw one of the most significant historical slumps in travel – Marriott remained profitable. The company used that time to develop new luxury brands and programs and found ways to trim the fat. The lowest EPS that the company clocked was in 2009, at $0.94. The company is able to cover its interest with a coverage of 5.4x.

Final Thoughts & Recommendation

Marriott Intl. is facing challenges, including the continued growth of alternative stay platforms such as Airbnb. With modest expected annualized total returns of 0.0% for the next five years, we rate Marriott Intl. as a Hold.
