Overview & Current Events

Federal Agricultural Mortgage Corp, also known as Farmer Mac, is a shareholder-owned, federally chartered corporation, combining private capital and public sponsorship for the purpose of increasing access to and reducing the cost of capital for American agriculture and rural communities. The corporation provides financial solutions to a variety of agricultural communities, including agricultural lenders, agribusinesses, and other institutions which benefit from access to flexible, low-cost financing and risk management tools. Often, Farmer Mac can provide the lowest cost of borrowing to agricultural and rural borrowers. In the last 30+ years, Farmer Mac has helped fund loans to over 100,000 rural borrowers in all 50 states, resulting in more than $93 billion of investments in rural America. Farmer Mac trades on the NYSE under the ticker symbol AGM and has a market capitalization of $1.9 billion.

On February 18th, 2026, Farmer Mac declared a $1.60 per share quarterly dividend, representing a 7% increase, and marking the company's 15th annual dividend increase.

On September 25th, 2025, the CEO of Farmer Mac, Bradford T. Nordholm, announced he will retire on March 31st, 2027. Zachary N. Carpenter, who was Executive VP and Chief Business Officer, was promoted to President and COO effective immediately, and will succeed Nordholm as CEO when he retires.

Farmer Mac reported first quarter 2026 results on May 5th, 2026, for the period ending March 31, 2026. During the quarter, the corporation generated $4.74 of core EPS, which rose 13% compared to $4.19 earned in the same prior year period. Net interest income improved by 11% year-over-year to $101 million.

The company maintains a position of strong liquidity, with a quarter-end cash and cash equivalents position of $774 million. Additionally, 90-day delinquencies were 0.52% across all its lines of business. Farmer Mac's net effective spread yield was 1.16% in Q1 2026 compared to 1.17% in the same prior year period.

Growth on a Per-Share Basis

Year	2016	2017	2018	2019	2020	2021	2022	2023	2024	2025	2026	2031
EPS	$5.97	$6.60	$8.83	$8.69	$8.27	$10.47	$11.42	$15.65	$15.64	$16.66	$19.52	$28.68
DPS	$1.04	$1.44	$2.32	$2.80	$3.20	$3.52	$3.80	$4.40	$5.60	$6.00	$6.40	$10.31
Shares²	10.5	10.6	10.7	10.7	10.7	10.7	10.8	10.8	10.9	10.9	10.9	11.0

The Federal Agricultural Mortgage Corp has grown earnings at an impressive rate, increasing by 12.1% and 15.0% CAGR over the last nine and five years. This earnings growth has been coupled with significant dividend growth over the same time periods. Since 2016, Farmer Mac has increased its dividend at an annual rate of 22%. Furthermore, the payout ratio remains well covered, which will allow the company to continue boosting its dividend year after year.

We estimate that Farmer Mac can continue to increase earnings per share by 8.0% annually and grow the dividend at a 10% annual rate. There is a large global demand for agriculture, and AGM forecasts that agricultural productivity must double to meet it. Farmer Mac possesses less than 10% share of the $368 billion and growing U.S. agricultural mortgage market, so there remains significant market share to capture.

Farmer Mac constantly evaluates new opportunities to broaden its target market and pursue new lines of business and products. In the prior year, it expanded its marketing and branding approach to attract new customers. The company also intends to solidify its position in the rural and agricultural markets through improvements in processes and operating practices related to customer interaction, transaction processes, and existing loan features and pricing.

Valuation Analysis

Year	2016	2017	2018	2019	2020	2021	2022	2023	2024	2025	Now	2031
Avg. P/E	6.6	9.8	9.1	8.9	8.1	10.9	9.4	10.5	12.1	11.0	8.9	10.5
Avg. Yld.	2.6%	2.2%	2.9%	3.6%	4.8%	3.3%	3.3%	2.8%	2.6%	3.2%	3.7%	3.4%

The current P/E ratio of 8.9 based on 2026's estimated EPS is below the 5-year average of 10.8. We peg fair value at 10.5 times EPS, which implies the potential for a valuation tailwind. Farmer Mac's current 3.7% dividend yield is well above the five-year average yield as the company's dividend has grown at an impressive rate.

Safety, Quality, Competitive Advantage, & Recession Resiliency

Year	2016	2017	2018	2019	2020	2021	2022	2023	2024	2025	2026	2031
Payout	17%	22%	26%	32%	39%	34%	33%	28%	36%	36%	33%	36%

Farmer Mac has a target payout ratio of roughly 35% of earnings, which is in line with our 2026 earnings and dividends estimate. As AGM grows EPS and the dividend near congruently, the payout ratio should remain around this target. It's also possible AGM will grow the target payout ratio as this target was 30% in 2016 and rose to 35% in 2019. There is a significant underlying safety to AGM's earnings and that is because more than 90% of total revenues is recurring net effective spread and fees. Federal Agricultural Mortgage Corp has a great advantage in funding, as it can issue at narrow, government-sponsored enterprise (GSE) spreads to U.S. Treasuries (in Q1 this was the 10-year U.S. Treasury +0.23%).

The great financial crisis crushed Farmer Mac's earnings per share in 2008, when the corporation reported a massive loss and cut the dividend in half from $0.40 to $0.20 annually. Farmer Mac's dividend recovered in 2012 and has since heavily eclipsed its previous record. Earnings also grew strongly off the back of the financial crisis and the company has done well since; however, the company is not recession resistant.

Final Thoughts & Recommendation

Federal Agricultural Mortgage Corp has an impressive dividend growth history; its dividend has risen elevenfold since 2014. We anticipate AGM will generate annualized total returns of 14.7%, driven by 8.0% earnings-per-share growth, a 3.7% yield, and 3.4% P/E multiple expansion. AGM trades at 84% of our fair value estimate, and forecast annualized total returns of 14.7% has us maintaining AGM as a buy.
