Overview & Current Events

Plains GP Holdings (PAGP), via its subsidiary Plains All American Pipeline (PAA), manages midstream energy infrastructure across the USA and Canada. Their operations span two sectors: Crude Oil and Natural Gas Liquids (NGLs). They transport these resources through pipelines, gathering systems, and trucks while providing storage, terminalling, throughput, NGL fractionation, isomerization, and natural gas processing services. Their logistics aid producers, refiners, and clients in the energy sector.

On May 6th, 2026, the company announced results for the first quarter of 2026. Plains GP Holdings reported non-GAAP EPS of $0.24, which missed the market's estimates by $0.15. The company reported revenues of $12.47 billion for the quarter, which were up 8.7% year-over-year.

Net income attributable to PAA declined to $152 million from $443 million a year earlier, while adjusted EBITDA attributable to PAA was $730 million, down 3% year over year. The crude oil segment delivered a 4% increase in Adjusted EBITDA, benefiting from higher pipeline volumes and the Cactus III acquisition, partly offset by Permian pipeline contract rate resets. In contrast, NGL Adjusted EBITDA fell 23% due to weaker frac spreads and lower sales volumes caused by warmer weather.

Management raised the midpoint of its full-year 2026 adjusted EBITDA guidance by $130 million to $2.88 billion, citing a more constructive oil market and the extended ownership of its Canadian NGL business ahead of the expected divestiture in May 2026. The company expects the sale to accelerate its transition into a pure-play crude oil midstream operator while supporting balance sheet improvement, with its leverage ratio projected to move toward the lower end of its target range by year-end. Growth capital spending remains $350 million, while maintenance capital was increased to $185 million. Management also reaffirmed its focus on completing the Canadian NGL sale, capturing $100 million of operational efficiencies and Cactus III synergies, and maintaining disciplined capital allocation while continuing to return capital to unitholders.

Plains GP Holdings evaluates the performance of its crude oil and NGL (natural gas liquids) segments through segment adjusted EBITDA. Plains GP Holdings saw an increase in shares outstanding in 2024, primarily driven by equity issuances related to strategic acquisitions and capital allocation initiatives aimed at enhancing long-term growth and financial flexibility.

In-line with the midpoint of analysts' estimates, we expect the company to post EPS of $1.53 in 2026. Our annual EPS growth forecast is 5.0% over the next five years, leading to our estimated EPS of $1.95 by 2031. Moreover, the company has a record of paying dividends despite operating in a volatile energy sector, as Plains GP Holdings has paid increasing dividends for the past 5 years. We do not expect consistency in maintaining dividend growth. However, the long-term trends remain positive, so we estimate a 2.0% dividend growth rate, suggesting a DPS of $1.84 by 2031.

Valuation Analysis

Year	2016	2017	2018	2019	2020	2021	2022	2023	2024	2025	Now	2031
Avg. P/E	30.2	-5.2	10.9	11.2	-2.9	32.5	13.6	14.5	25.0	14.8	17.0	13.0

The midstream energy infrastructure operator trades at a forward P/E of 17.0, above the 10-year average P/E of 14.5. Even though the volatility and rise in prices and demand will benefit the company in the near-term, we assign a P/E of 13.0 to the stock, which we believe is a fair reflection of its value. Accordingly, with an expected EPS of $1.95 by 2031 and a target P/E of 13.0, our five-year target price for the stock stands at $25.

Safety, Quality, Competitive Advantage, & Recession Resiliency

Year	2016	2017	2018	2019	2020	2021	2022	2023	2024	2025	2026	2031

While the company has paid a volatile dividend to its shareholders, we expect the company to maintain and increase its payout in the future. In Q1 Plains GP Holdings generated $418 million in operating cash flow and reported a pro forma leverage ratio of 4.1x, while expecting leverage to move back toward the midpoint of its 3.25x–3.75x target range following the closing of its Canadian NGL divestiture and trend toward the lower end of the range by year-end.

Final Thoughts & Recommendation

Plains GP Holdings runs a critical crude and NGL infrastructure business, and we believe that increased energy demand and upstream underinvestment will be a positive catalyst for EPS growth. However, Plains GP Holdings' dividend growth prospects could remain low given the payout ratio. We maintain our hold rating premised upon 5.7% annualized expected total returns for the medium-term, derived from the forecasted earnings-per-share growth of 5.0%, 6.4% dividend yield, and a valuation headwind.
