Overview & Current Events

Essex Property Trust, Inc. (ESS) is a fully integrated real estate investment trust that acquires, develops, redevelops, and manages multifamily apartment communities in supply-constrained West Coast markets. The company is among the largest apartment owners and property managers in the United States, owning interests in 258 apartment communities comprising over 63,000 apartment homes (with an additional property in active development). Properties are primarily located in Southern California, the San Francisco Bay Area, and the Seattle metropolitan area. ESS also operates select retail commercial space within its developments. The company focuses on high-quality properties in prime urban and suburban submarkets with high barriers to entry.

On Jul. 29, ESS released its financial results for the second quarter ended Jun. 30, 2026. The REIT's total revenue grew by 4.1% over the year-ago period to $489 million in the quarter. This was made possible by a 2.7% same-property revenue growth rate during the quarter. That was driven by outperformance in Northern California (up 4.4%), which compensated for lower growth from Southern California and the Seattle Metro (+1.5% and +1.7%, respectively). A slightly higher occupancy rate versus Q2 2025 (up 10 basis points to 96.3%) also contributed to this topline growth for the quarter. ESS's core FFO per share edged 1.2% higher year-over-year to $4.08 in the quarter. This was $0.04 above the analyst consensus during the quarter. Greater interest expenses from refinancing maturing debt at higher prevailing interest rates ate into core FFO per share, causing its growth to lag revenue growth for the quarter.

Growth on a Per-Share Basis

Year	2016	2017	2018	2019	2020	2021	2022	2023	2024	2025	2026	2031

Since 2016, ESS has grown its core FFO per share by just over 4% annually (and just over 5% annually over the past five years). Looking ahead, we think that the REIT can grow core FFO per share by 4% annually through 2031, off an anticipated 2026 base of $16.14. Improving occupancy in its core West Coast markets and a reduction in new housing supply in those regions bode well for ESS. This will more than cancel out the headwinds posed by the elevated interest rate environment. Over that same time, we think that annual dividend growth will be almost as fast as core FFO per share growth.

Valuation Analysis

Year	2016	2017	2018	2019	2020	2021	2022	2023	2024	2025	Now	2031
Avg. P/FFO	21.1	20.3	19.6	22.5	18.5	28.2	14.6	16.5	17.4	16.1	17.6	17.0
Avg. Yld.	2.7%	2.8%	3.0%	2.6%	3.4%	2.4%	4.1%	3.7%	3.4%	4.0%	3.6%	3.7%

Over the last decade, the REIT's P/FFO ratio has varied from as cheap as the low teens to as expensive as the upper-20s. The average P/FFO ratio over that time was nearly 20. Accounting for the elevated 10-year U.S. Treasury yield, we think that a fair value multiple of 17 is reasonable. Against the current-year P/FFO ratio of 17.6, this implies shares are slightly overvalued.

Safety, Quality, Competitive Advantage, & Recession Resiliency

Year	2016	2017	2018	2019	2020	2021	2022	2023	2024	2025	2026	2031
Payout	57%	58%	58%	58%	64%	67%	60%	61%	62%	64%	64%	63%

ESS is a high-quality apartment REIT that has raised its dividend for 32 consecutive years from the time it first became a publicly traded trust. Real estate has a natural moat, and the REIT's exposure to high-value cities with strong technology cultures further widens that moat.

ESS is also a financially stable company. As of Jun. 30, the company's net debt to EBITDA was 5.4x. ESS also ended the quarter with $1.4 billion in total liquidity. This earns ESS BBB+/Baa1 credit ratings from S&P and Moody's with stable outlooks. The REIT looks poised to extend its dividend growth streak for the foreseeable future as well, with the core FFO payout ratio likely to be in the mid-60% range in 2026.

Final Thoughts & Recommendation

ESS's 3.6% dividend yield, 4.0% annual core FFO per share growth, and 0.7% annual valuation multiple contraction could deliver 6.6% annual total returns through 2031. This is why we're maintaining our Hold rating.
