Overview & Current Events

Midland States Bancorp (MSBI) is the holding company of Midland States Bank, a community bank that was founded in 1881 and is headquartered in Effingham, Illinois. It operates 53 branches in Illinois and Missouri and provides a wide range of banking products and services to individuals, businesses, municipalities and other entities. Midland States Bancorp has total assets of $6.5 billion and a market capitalization of $692 million.

On April 9th, 2025, Midland States Bancorp received a deficiency notification letter from Nasdaq, as it did not file its annual report in time. The bank received a similar report on May 23rd, 2025. It had a deadline until June 2nd, 2025, to regain compliance with Nasdaq and it finally filed its annual report on July 1st, 2025. The bank received a similar report on August 22nd, 2025. This raises a red flag about management's quality and the health of the bank's business model.

In late July, Midland States Bancorp reported (7/23/26) results for Q2-2026. Net interest margin widened sequentially from 3.91% to 3.98% and net interest income grew 4%. Despite higher provisions for loan losses, earnings-per-share grew 4%, from $0.79 to $0.82, but missed the analysts' consensus by $0.02. Given improved business performance, we have raised our forecast for earnings-per-share in 2026 from $2.60 to $2.90. However, while the losses from the sale of loan portfolios in 2025 are non-recurring, we remain concerned over the unreliable business performance of the bank.

Midland States Bancorp has acquired seven smaller banks since 2009. As a result, it has grown its asset base by 10% per year on average over the last nine years. It has also grown its earnings-per-share by 8.7% per year on average over the last 8 years but it incurred a material loss in 2024 due to massive loan charge-offs and high deposit costs, which resulted from high interest rates. While we are concerned over the quality of the loan portfolio of the bank, we do not expect excessive losses from loans to recur this year and thus we expect earnings-per-share of $2.90. In addition, given our expectations for lower interest rates in the upcoming years, we expect the bank to enjoy an expansion of its net interest margin. Nevertheless, given its volatile performance record and our concerns over the quality of its loan portfolio, we expect 2.0% average annual growth of earnings-per-share over the next five years.

Updated August 13th, 2026 by Aristofanis Papadatos

Excluding the years of abnormally high or abnormally low price-to-earnings ratios, Midland States Bancorp has traded at an average price-to-earnings ratio of 10.3 over the last decade. We assume this valuation level as fair for this stock. The stock is currently trading at a price-to-earnings ratio of 11.7, which is higher than the historical average of the bank. If the stock trades at its average valuation level in five years, it will incur a -2.6% annualized valuation drag.

Safety, Quality, Competitive Advantage, & Recession Resiliency

Year	2016	2017	2018	2019	2020	2021	2022	2023	2024	2025	2026	2031
Payout	17%	92%	37%	38%	63%	31%	31%	35%	---	74%	46%	46%

Midland States Bancorp just raised its dividend by 3% and thus it has raised its dividend for 10 years in a row. It is now offering a dividend yield of 3.9%, which is higher than the 2.7% median dividend yield of the financial sector. However, the stock incurred material losses in 2024. We also note that the company has grown its dividend by only 3% per year on average over the last five years. Overall, the stock is offering a somewhat high current yield but the dividend is not safe, particularly given the aforementioned issue related to the quality of the loan portfolio of the bank.

Moreover, Midland States Bancorp has exhibited a volatile performance record and has proved vulnerable to recessions and downturns of the financial sector. It incurred a -33% decrease in its earnings-per-share in 2020 due to the pandemic and posted excessive losses in 2024, primarily due to credit issues with two customers. Therefore, the stock is suitable only for investors who can tolerate stock price pressure during downturns and wait patiently for the subsequent recovery.

Final Thoughts & Recommendation

Midland States Bancorp has surged 62% in about five months thanks to optimism that the issues related to the quality of its loans belongs to the past. The stock could offer a 3.3% average annual return over the next five years thanks to 2.0% growth of earnings-per-share, its 3.9% dividend and a 2.6% valuation headwind. However, due to the high risk related to the quality of the loan portfolio of the bank, we rate it as a hold only for risk-tolerant investors. We also reiterate that the stock is suitable only for patient investors, who can stomach choppy business performance and a volatile stock price.
