Overview & Current Events

Republic Bancorp is a financial holding company that is headquartered in Louisville, Kentucky, and provides both traditional and non-traditional banking products to its customers. It has 47 full-service banking centers in five states, with most of the centers in Kentucky, and has a market cap of $1.9 billion. The bank offers savings, checking and money market accounts while it also originates residential mortgage loans, home equity loans, commercial real estate loans, and credit lines and offers personal and business banking services. Republic Bancorp is characterized by conservative management and thus it has raised its dividend for 25 consecutive years.

In late July, Republic Bancorp reported (7/24/26) financial results for the second quarter of 2026. Loans grew 1% while deposits grew 4% over the prior year's quarter. Net interest margin expanded from 3.72% in the prior year's quarter to 4.02% and net interest income grew 7%. Earnings-per-share grew 4%, from $1.61 to $1.68, and exceeded the analysts' consensus by $0.13. The bank has beaten the analysts' estimates in 15 of the last 21 quarters. Net interest margin expanded for an eighth consecutive quarter. As the bank exceeded our expectations, we have raised our forecast for earnings-per-share in 2026 from $6.60 to $7.00.

Most banks faced material loan losses due to the pandemic in 2020, but Republic Bancorp proved resilient to that crisis thanks to its disciplined business model. The bank grew its earnings-per-share 3% in 2020 and 6% in 2021.

Growth on a Per-Share Basis

Year	2016	2017	2018	2019	2020	2021	2022	2023	2024	2025	2026	2031

Republic Bancorp has exhibited a solid performance record over the last decade. It has grown its earnings-per-share at a 13.1% average annual rate over the last decade and at an 11.0% average annual rate over the last five years. The bank is trying to grow by expanding its reach via digital channels and acquiring smaller peers, while it is also doing its best to reduce its operating costs. It faced a strong headwind from high interest rates in 2023 but its net interest margin has been in recovery mode in recent quarters. Lower interest rates will probably help Republic Bancorp enhance its net interest margin, i.e., the difference between the interest rate it charges on loans minus the interest rate it pays on deposits. Given the high comparison base formed by the expected earnings-per-share this year, we expect 3.0% average annual growth of earnings-per-share over the next five years.

Republic Bancorp (RBCAA)

Updated August 14th, 2026 by Aristofanis Papadatos

Republic Bancorp is currently trading at a price-to-earnings ratio of 14.0, which is higher than its 10-year average price-to-earnings ratio of 11.6. We expect the stock to trade at its average valuation level in five years. In such a case, the stock will incur a -3.7% annualized valuation drag.

Safety, Quality, Competitive Advantage, & Recession Resiliency

Year	2016	2017	2018	2019	2020	2021	2022	2023	2024	2025	2026	2031
Payout	37%	35%	26%	27%	29%	29%	30%	32%	31%	27%	28%	28%

Republic Bancorp is characterized by disciplined management, which is focused on maintaining pristine credit quality metrics. Non-performing loans are 0.58% of total loans while net loan charge-offs are only 0.01% of total loans. Thanks to its prudent strategy, the company has proved resilient to recessions. In the Great Recession, the worst financial crisis of the last 90 years, when most banks incurred severe losses and cut their dividends, Republic Bancorp continued growing its earnings and its dividend. The bank proved resilient throughout the pandemic as well.

The conservative strategy of the bank results in slower growth during boom times but much more reliable performance during downturns. This helps explain the superior dividend growth record of Republic Bancorp. The bank has raised its dividend by 10% this year and hence it has raised its dividend for 25 consecutive years. Given its solid payout ratio of 28% and its defensive business model, the bank can keep raising its dividend for many more years.

Final Thoughts & Recommendation

Republic Bancorp is a high-quality bank, which has proved resilient to recessions. The stock came under pressure in 2023 due to the collapse of a few banks but it has endured the downturn and it has rallied 43% this year thanks to strong business momentum. Due to its steep rally, the stock has become less attractive. It could offer a 1.4% average annual return over the next five years thanks to 3.0% earnings-per-share growth and its 2.0% dividend, partly offset by a -3.7% annualized valuation drag. The stock receives a hold rating. Investors should be aware of the low trading volume of this small-cap stock.
