Overview & Current Events

RELX is a global provider of information-based analytics and decision tools for professional and business customers. It operates through four segments: Scientific, Technical & Medical, and Risk & Business Analytics; Legal; and Exhibitions. RELX PLC was incorporated in 1903 and is headquartered in London, the United Kingdom, and has a market cap of $62 billion. The stock trades in the NYSE, though the original 1988 listing remains on the London Stock Exchange. It serves customers in more than 180 countries, and has offices in about 40 countries. All numbers have been converted to U.S. dollars unless otherwise noted.

On July 23rd, 2026, RELX PLC reported its results for the six months ending June 30th, 2026. For the period, adjusted earnings per share was $0.91, 11% higher than last year in constant currency terms. The increase was mainly driven by revenue growth of 7% on an underlying basis to $6.46 billion and improved profitability, with underlying adjusted operating profit rising 9% and the adjusted operating margin increasing from 34.8% to 35.5%.

The company's largest business segment, Risk, reported underlying revenue growth of 8%. Scientific, Technical & Medical revenues grew by 6%, while Legal delivered another step up in growth at 10%. Exhibitions reported underlying revenue growth of 6%, despite some travel disruption affecting events.

Management kept growing RELX's portfolio during the half, completing two acquisitions for $136.6 million alongside one small disposal. The company also completed $2.32 billion of its planned $2.98 billion share-buyback program during H1. Management reaffirmed its outlook for strong underlying revenue, adjusted operating profit, and adjusted EPS growth at constant currency. Based on our updated estimates, we see FY2026 EPS of around $1.96. RELX also declared an interim dividend of $0.28, up 7%. We don't speculate on the FY2026 dividend amount.

EPS has grown at CAGR of 9.2% over the past decade, while DPS has grown at a CAGR of 9.4% over the same period. The company has had consistent and stable growth over the past decade and has been a top holding in most of the U.K.'s income funds. In the original LSE listing, dividends have been growing annually since 1999.

We have set our CAGR estimates to around 7.5% for both EPS and DPS through 2031 as demand for RELX's solutions remains robust across all segments, despite concerns of AI "vibe-coding" software businesses to extinction. Buybacks should also aid EPS growth. RELX deployed £500 million on share buybacks in 2022, £800 million in 2023, £1 billion in 2024, and £1.5 billion in 2025.

¹ Dividends have been growing annually since 1999 in RELX's original listing and original declarations in constant currency.

Valuation Analysis

Year	2016	2017	2018	2019	2020	2021	2022	2023	2024	2025	Now	2031
Avg. P/E	23.1	29.3	19.5	23.2	22.5	25.4	27.9	25.7	32.1	31.6	17.8	20.0
Avg. Yld.	2.4%	2.2%	2.3%	2.4%	2.8%	2.2%	2.3%	2.4%	1.9%	1.9%	2.6%	2.3%

RELX's valuation has been consistent over the years, with its average P/E standing at 26 times. Despite management's positive future outlook, investors have sold off the stock on fears of a catastrophic SaaS-apocalypse scenario over AI – related threats. This has driven the stock down a P/E of 17.8. While we do see a level of risk, we believe the stock is undervalued and deserves to trade a P/E of at least 20.0 given its ongoing growth prospects.

Safety, Quality, Competitive Advantage, & Recession Resiliency

Year	2016	2017	2018	2019	2020	2021	2022	2023	2024	2025	2026	2031
Payout	64%	48%	59%	59%	75%	65%	64%	63%	61%	60%	46%	46%

RELX holds a sort of legendary status in the U.K.'s investing culture, posing as one of the safest growth stocks one can own, having achieved consistent market-beating returns. With prudent capital allocation, the company secures its future advancements while growing its dividends and maintaining a healthy payout ratio. The payout ratio currently stands at a relatively comfortable level of 46%, allowing for excess cash to be allocated in future acquisitions and share repurchases. Further, while RELX's net borrowings position is at a heavy $11.5 billion, operating income covers interest payments by multiple times over. Hence, we believe the company should be able to absorb rising interest rates aright. We also find RELX's ability to withstand a potential recession strong, as the need for analytics is vital to operate any modern business. The industry, however, is under heavy competition. With new technologies in the sector being developed by the day, RELX must continually innovate and acquire other companies to stay ahead of the curve.

Final Thoughts & Recommendation

RELX is a well-managed company with an impressive history of shareholder value creation. We believe that EPS and DPS will continue their upward trajectory. We see annualized returns of 12.2% in the medium-term, as valuation tailwinds could boost returns on top of our expected earnings growth rate of 7.5% and the 2.6% dividend yield. We rate shares as a buy and we believe that the stock can be suitable for dividend growth portfolios looking for exposure to international equities. Still, note that U.S.-based investors should be wary of FX-related risks, as RELX reports its earnings in GBP.
