Overview & Current Events

Consolidated Edison is a holding company that delivers electricity, natural gas, and steam to its customers in New York City and Westchester County. The company has annual revenues of just over $17 billion.

On January 27th, 2026, Consolidated Edison announced that it was raising its quarterly dividend 4.4% to $0.8875. This was the company's 52nd annual increase, qualifying Consolidated Edison as a Dividend King.

On August 6th, 2026, Consolidated Edison released second quarter results for the period ending June 30th, 2026. For the quarter, revenue grew 13.2% to $4.1 billion, which beat estimates by $525 million. Adjusted earnings of $308 million, or $0.83 per share, compared to adjusted earnings of $240 million, or $0.67 per share, in the previous year. Adjusted earnings-per-share were $0.06 better than expected.

As with previous reports, higher rate bases for gas and electric customers were the primary contributors to results in the CECONY business, which accounts for the vast majority of the company's assets. Management reaffirmed its prior statement that average rate base balances are expected to grow by a high single-digit figure annually through 2030 off 2026 levels. The company also expects capital investments of ~$38 billion through 2030 and ~$72 billion over the next decade. Consolidated Edison had an equity offering of 7 million shares during Q1 2026 in order to help fund its capital investment plan.

Consolidated Edison expects earnings-per-share in a range of $6.00 to $6.20 for the year. The company now expects ~8.6% earnings growth from 2026 to 2030.

Growth on a Per-Share Basis

Year	2016	2017	2018	2019	2020	2021	2022	2023	2024	2025	2026	2031

Shares¹	305	310	315	334	337	354	356	347	347	361	370	375

Consolidated Edison has increased its earnings-per-share at a rate of 4.2% annually over the last decade, but this figure accelerates to 6.8% when looking at just the last five years. Consolidated Edison initiated its biggest investment program in its history recently. It has completed its installation smart meters in its network. This will help customers optimize energy use while the company will be able to realize lower peak demand and thus reduce its operating cost. The company also expects massive capital investment over the next decade, which should allow for further improvements to its network as well as higher rates.

Thanks to rate hikes and population growth, the company has been able to raise its dividend for more than five decades. The company has grown its dividend at a 2.7% annual rate since 2016. The company has also diluted its shareholders at a 1.9% per year over the last decade. Given action taken during prior quarters quarter, along with the company's capital investment plan, we would not be surprised to see further share dilution.

Consolidated Edison’s guidance for the next five years is aggressive. We reaffirm our expected EPS growth rate of 6% from 4% to reflect this guidance. The dividend growth rate is expected to be 2.5% per year through 2031 as this is close to the long-term average.

Valuation Analysis

Year	2016	2017	2018	2019	2020	2021	2022	2023	2024	2025	Now	2031
Avg. P/E	18.8	20.0	17.4	20.7	17.3	19.4	20.9	17.9	16.5	17.4	17.5	18.0

Shares of Consolidated Edison have declined $1, or 0.9%, since our May 19th, 2026, report. Shares trade with a price-to-earnings ratio of 17.5 based off estimates for 2026. Consolidated Edison has traded with an average P/E of 18.6 over the last decade and 18.4 over the last five years. We reaffirm our target P/E of 18 as this better reflect recent results as well as incorporates our expectation for stronger than usual earnings growth through the end of the decade. Multiple expansion could add 0.5% to annual returns through 2031.

Safety, Quality, Competitive Advantage, & Recession Resiliency

Year	2016	2017	2018	2019	2020	2021	2022	2023	2024	2025	2026	2031
Payout	68%	68%	66%	68%	73%	71%	69%	64%	61%	60%	58%	49%

Just like most other utilities, thanks to its heavy investments in infrastructure, Consolidated Edison is typically allowed by the regulatory authorities to raise its rates. As a result, it enjoys reliable cash flows and can thus service its debt. One key competitive advantage for Consolidated Edison is that consumers do not curtail their electricity consumption even during the roughest economic periods, so the stock is resilient during recessions. This resiliency should be attractive to investors. In the Great Recession, when most companies saw their earnings collapse, earnings for Consolidated Edison fell just 3% in 2008 and 7% in 2009, and it took only one year to return to the pre-crisis level.

Final Thoughts & Recommendation

Following second quarter results, Consolidated Edison is expected to return 9.2% annually through 2031, up slightly from our prior estimate of 9.0%. Projected returns stem from a 6.0% earnings growth rate, a starting yield of 3.3%, and a small contribution from multiple expansion. For income investors, there is much to like about Consolidated Edison, including the company’s dividend growth track record and the stock’s solid yield. That said, we continue to rate Consolidated Edison as a hold due to projected returns.
